

Texas Priests Ask Removal Of Archbishop

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A group of 81 priests has asked for the removal of Archbishop Robert E. Lucey, the spiritual leader of 800,000 Roman Catholics in Texas.

The priests disclosed at a news conference Thursday that their request was sent to Pope Paul VI and other Catholic leaders more than a month ago.

"We are doing it out of love for the church and concern for the people," said the Rev. Louis R. Michalak, 31, spokesman for the group.

Archbishop Lucey, 77, is the chief Catholic official of the 10 Texas dioceses and the Oklahoma City-Tulsa diocese.

Bishop Stephen A. Leven, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese, told a news conference today, "I am deeply grieved at their (the 81's) anguish of spirit."

Bishop Leven, who said Archbishop Lucey had not asked him to speak and did not know what he was saying, added that he believed he spoke for "the more than 400 active priests" in the archdiocese who did not sign the letter "and perhaps not a few who did."

There are 448 priests in the San Antonio archdiocese, and controversy has arisen often in recent months.

Father William Killian and Father Sherrill Smith were banished recently to a Catholic retreat in New Mexico, and the priests cited this instance at their news conference.

Also cited as reasons for the request were the archbishop's age, the transfer of priests who had been outspoken, and the archbishop's refusal to recognize the 160-member association of priests in the archdiocese. All 51 priests are association members.

"We are like camels crossing an increasingly arid desert upon whose back has just been placed the proverbial last straw," the letter to the Pope said.

Father Michalak said there was no malice intended in the priests' request. Archbishop Lucey, he said, "has been a real giant" during his 32 years as an archbishop, "but we feel we need a person more responsive to the needs of this particular age."

President Thieu Will Not Yield

SAIGON (AP)—Informed South Vietnamese sources said today President Nguyen Van Thieu remains unbending under U.S. pressure in his refusal to agree to a peace talks role for the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The sources, with access to official information, reported that U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, following his seventh meeting in nine days with Thieu, accepted the president's position as his final word on the subject.

Bunker was reported to have told Washington that any further efforts to change the Saigon government's position on front representation would be fruitless at this time.

Thieu has said he would accept the front only as part of the North Vietnamese delegation at peace talks. He insists Hanoi must negotiate with his government. North Vietnam says peace negotiations must be carried out with the front.

Late Senator's Remarks Unfair

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retired Marine Gen. David M. Shoup says the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy unfairly depicted the role played by the Joint Chiefs of Staff during the 1962 Cuba missile crisis.

In a magazine article published last week, the late senator wrote that his brother, President John F. Kennedy, was distressed because most of his military advisors "seemed to give so little consideration to the implications of the steps they suggested."

Kennedy wrote that some of the ideas put forth by the joint chiefs included an air strike and an invasion of Cuba and even an attack directly on the Soviet Union.

Shoup, Marine commandant and a member of the joint chiefs in 1962, said in an interview:

"It is not fair to say that the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended, to the exclusion of any other course, that we go right in and blast the missile sites off the face of the earth," Shoup said.

"I'm pretty sure nobody recommended in my presence unequivocally that we immediately try to wipe out the missile sites with bombs without any other consideration of the implications."

The former Marine leader said that "I spent many, many hours in the tank at that time and I don't remember anyone who had a flippant attitude about flipping nuclear weapons."

The "tank" is the slang name for the Pentagon room where the military chiefs deliberate.

"Robert Kennedy did not sit in the tank. He had to draw that conclusion by looking at the face of a man who was under stress for days," Shoup said, adding that he doubted Kennedy knew the real inner thoughts of the chiefs "except as he guessed them."

No Breakthrough In Paris Talks, Says LBJ

Larger Military: Wallace

By The Associated Press
Wallace told a Madison Square Garden rally Thursday the United States should never again be allowed to lag behind "potential enemies."

Wallace promised to beef up the armed forces so they can act as a deterrent to aggression and as a stabilizing force for peace.

Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey focused on Nixon's statement that action on the proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty should be delayed until Russia makes clear its plans in the wake of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"If we lose this treaty," said Humphrey in San Diego, Calif., "we may lose the last chance we have to stop the spread of nuclear weaponry."

Seek U.N. Action
Humphrey also released a statement urging a larger place for the United Nations in peace-keeping actions.

He said the United States should make clear "our intentions to refrain from unilateral action when there are threats to the peace, to seek U.N. action, and to urge all other nations to follow our example."

Humphrey said in Los Angeles he was being cautious in discussing the negotiations.

"If any reluctance to say some things costs me my election, but it can still bring peace, then maybe I will have served my country better than if I were president," said Humphrey.

LeMay At Garden

Republican vice-presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew, speaking at a St. Louis rally, commended President Johnson's handling of the Paris peace talks. Agnew said: "It's fully expected that some breakthrough in the Paris peace talks will be reflected, possibly later today (Thursday) or tomorrow."

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, American Independent vice-presidential candidate, criticized Nixon for his announced intention to include liberals in a Republican administration and said, "Most liberal programs are headed for socialism or even communism."

LeMay joined Wallace for the Madison Square Garden rally, where 25 persons were taken into custody in and outside the hall during the rally.

Two persons were arrested and charged with assaulting a police officer at Pottsville during an appearance by Nixon.

LBJ Finds Time To Boost HHH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, who said he dropped out of the presidential race because he couldn't spare any time from his office for personal politics, is going on television to plug Hubert H. Humphrey.

Johnson announced the television appearance at a news conference Thursday when he also gave an assessment of problems standing in the way of peace in Vietnam and a discourse on law enforcement.

Johnson said the television appearance is set for Nov. 3 at 8:30 p.m. EST. The Sunday before the election, over NBC. He already has made a radio speech for Humphrey over NBC and makes a radio speech on CBS at 7:35 p.m. EST this Sunday.

In announcing last March he would not seek re-election Johnson said:

"I do not believe that I should devote an hour or a day of my time to any personal partisan causes or to any duties other than the awesome duties of this office."

Standing before the big table in the cabinet room Thursday with the White House rose garden behind him beyond the portals, the President said there has been "no basic change, no breakthrough" in the Paris peace talks.

But "We are working hard and diligently and earnestly," he said.

Johnson predicted a Humphrey victory after a question about the possibility of the three-way race involving Republican Richard M. Nixon and Independent George C. Wallace might wind up in the House of Representatives.

The President said he hopes it doesn't, and added: "I think Mr. Humphrey, in the days ahead, will eliminate the necessity of the House making any judgment on it."

Politics, in one form or another, took up more than half of the time at the news conference, with a question on "law and order" drawing the President's longest single response.

The President said he was not commenting on statements of individual campaigners and then launched into a long discussion of the crime problem.

Call Teachers 'Racist Pigs'

By The Associated Press
A number of Michigan schools faced continued troubles today in disputes with pupils and employees.

The Clio School District ordered classes canceled for its 8,000 pupils again today as a strike by school bus drivers moved into its third day.

The drivers Thursday rejected a condition set by the school board that they return to work before negotiations could resume on a contract.

Clio teachers have refused to cross picket lines set up by the drivers.

A strike by most of the teachers in the Chippewa Valley School District near Mount Clemens continued in a dispute over proposals to insert a "grandfather" clause in their contract, exempting a reported seven teachers from the union shop provisions.

In Detroit, six Negro students, members of the militant Black Council Organization, were suspended Thursday from Mackenzie High School. School officials said the youths were suspended until Monday at the earliest, or until officials talked with parents of the youths.

The six were suspended as a result of an assembly held last Monday at which Negro militant students spoke and called some teachers "racist pigs." Several hundred students later demonstrated outside the building and roamed the halls.

Meanwhile, the Grosse Pointe Education Association and the Grosse Pointe Board of Education reached agreement Thursday on a new contract. Teachers are expected to vote on the proposed pact next week. The teachers had been working without a contract.

But President Thinks He May Untie War Knot

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is evidently convinced he may yet make a breakthrough toward peace in Vietnam, despite reports that there has been no solution to two major problems standing in the way of a halt to U.S. bombing of the North.

"We are working hard and diligently and earnestly," Johnson said Thursday at a news conference at which he also confirmed that the United States and North Vietnam are engaged in active, secret exchanges.

The President, arguing the necessity of secrecy, refrained from defining the issues which have blocked agreement so far.

Responsible authorities said privately, however, that he is still seeking assurances from Hanoi on de-escalation.

Secret Plan

They also said there is still no agreement on including the South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front in the next phase of the Paris peace talks.

The President's views came before allied sources reported in Paris that a secret plan had been formulated in Washington that calls for a first step of a bombing halt which would lead to a cease-fire in South Vietnam.

The sources said the plan's operations hinge on a sign from Hanoi that North Vietnamese forces were being withdrawn from the demilitarized zone.

There was no comment from the White House concerning the Paris report.

Reporters had been told earlier in the week that Johnson would meet with them before the weekend, leading to speculation that the President foresaw a possible Vietnam breakthrough.

"No Breakthrough" However, he said Thursday, that "there had been no basic change, no breakthrough."

This was the second "no breakthrough" report from the White House in less than two weeks. The first came Oct. 16.

The sequence of no-basic-change-statements had led to speculation that a serious hitch has developed between Washington and Hanoi.

Up to this time the prevailing view in official Washington was that a final decision in Hanoi was very close.

The reason for delay, according to some diplomatic sources, is that the Hanoi authorities who may favor coming to terms with the United States face resistance not only from their own hard-line policymakers but also from the leaders of the Viet Cong and the National Liberation Front in the South.

General Assembly End Debates On Mild Note

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (AP) — The General Assembly today winds up a general policy debate that opened three weeks ago on a note of crisis but turned into one of the mildest such exchanges in U.N. history.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk opened the annual parade of policy statements on Oct. 2 with such a blunt dressing down of the Soviet Union that most delegates thought it would touch off a bitter East-West debate.

Rusk denounced the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia as a violation of the U.N. charter and warned the Russians not to interfere in West Germany as they had threatened. He also questioned the new Moscow doctrine that asserted the right of interference in the internal affairs of other Communist states.

Instead of the expected counterblast, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko replied in unusually moderate tones. He managed to take a good deal of the heat out of the Czechoslovak question by making a quick bid for a detente with the West and generally projecting the image of a peaceful power.

Gromyko did not retreat from the Soviet position that the occupation of Czechoslovakia was necessary to maintain the "Soviet Commonwealth." But his remarks about Vietnam were limited to a call for a bombing halt and lacked the usual invective the Communists employ on that topic.

The Soviet minister laid heavy stress on a call for peace through disarmament and arms control. He said the Soviet government is ready to start a "serious exchange of views" with the United States on mutual limitation and reduction of strategic nuclear weapons.

Vietnam was dealt with lightly on all sides this year.

The Russians, with the Czechoslovak invasion still fresh in everyone's mind, apparently deemed it wiser to avoid inflammatory charges that might boomerang. The nonaligned nations which last year issued an almost unanimous appeal for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam said little about the Southeast Asian war, apparently anxious to do nothing that might jeopardize the Paris peace talks.

The only real heat generated during the debate came from Albania, generally regarded as the voice of Communist China in the United Nations.

Albania Ambassador Halim Budo blasted both the United States and the Soviet Union as "imperialists" allied to crush Peking. He charged that Moscow and Washington had carved the world up into "spheres of influence in preparation for a third world war against the People's Republic of China."

Ship Aground In St. Marys River

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—A German freighter, the Kiffu of Hamburg, ran aground today in the St. Marys downward channel just above DeTour, some 40 miles from Sault Ste. Marie.

The ship went aground while carrying a load of grain, mustard seed and general cargo.

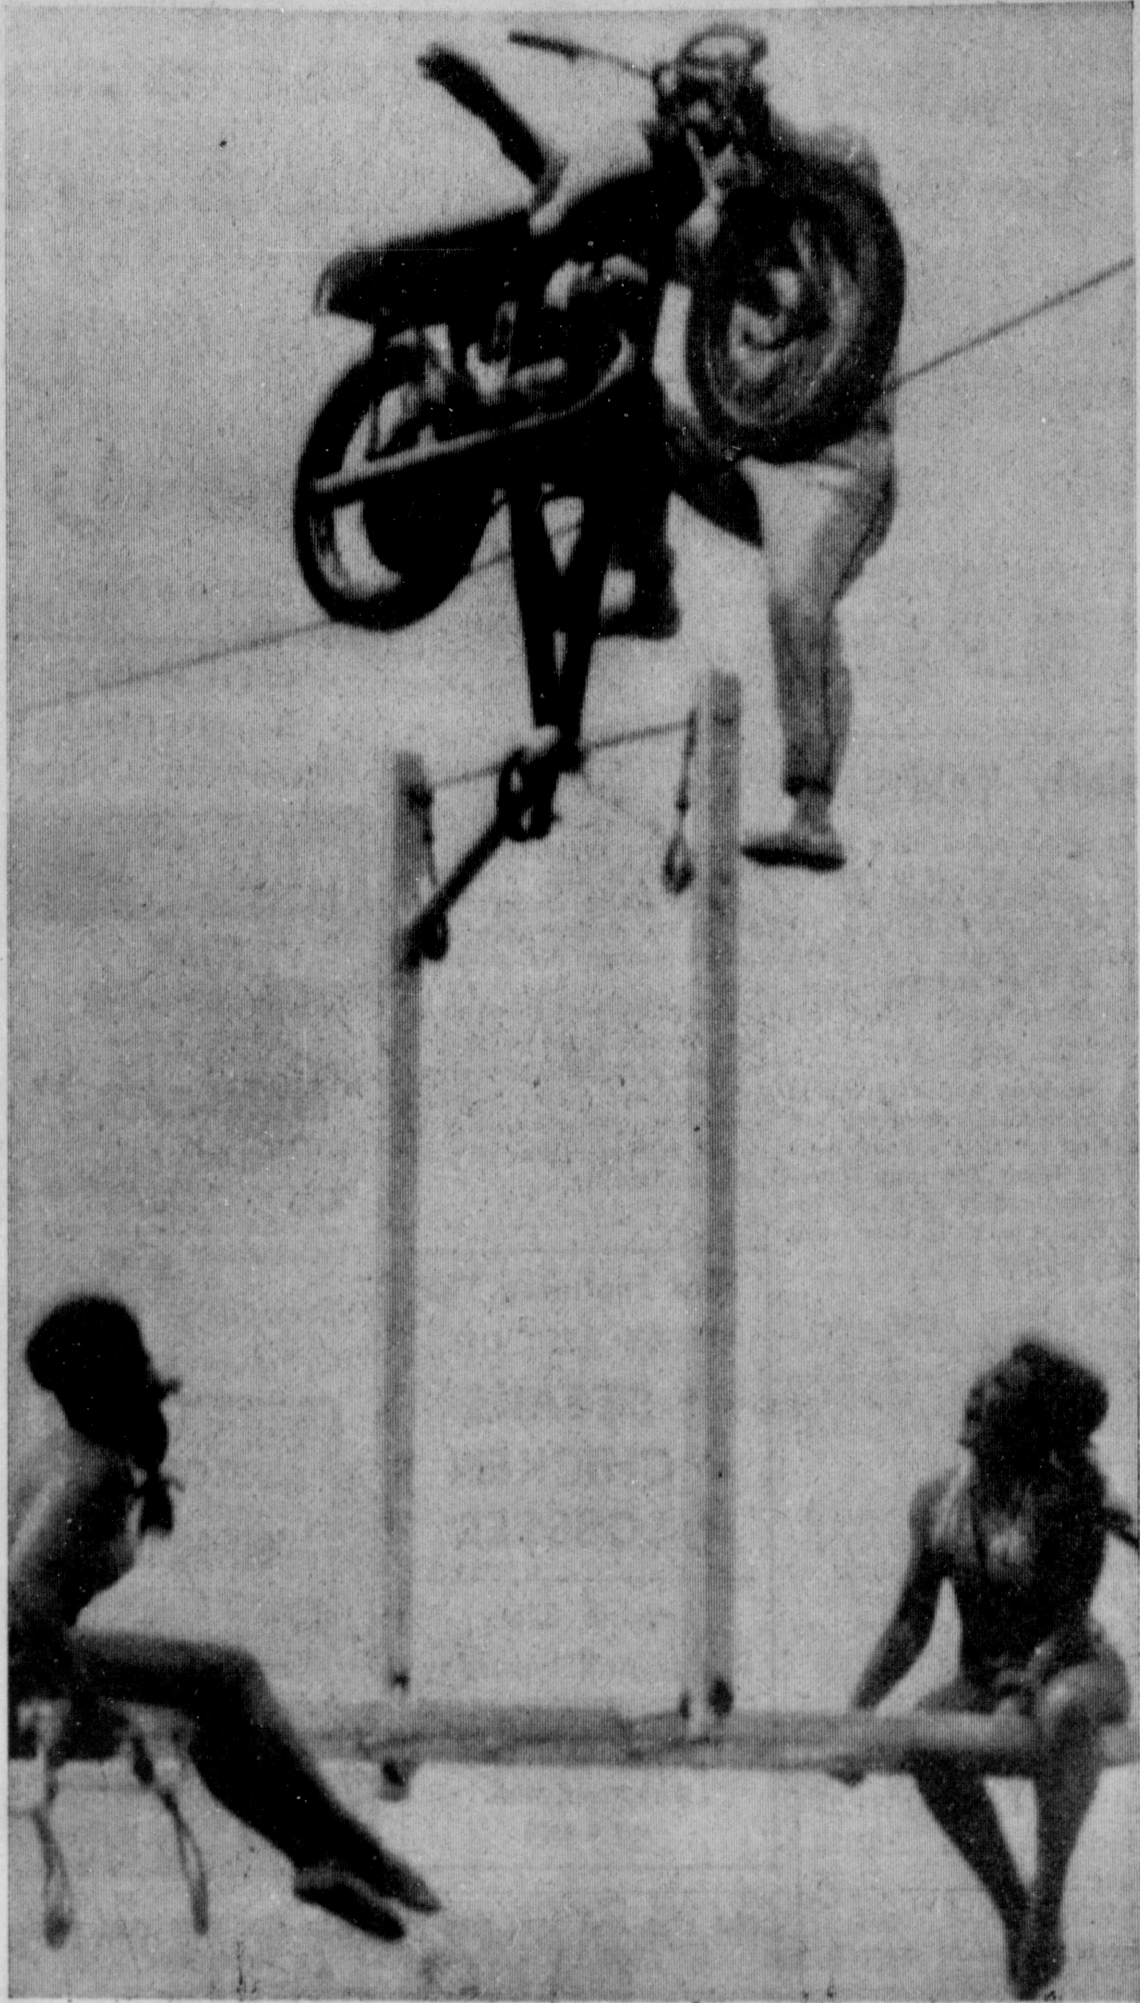

The Coast Guard reported no apparent damage to the 267-foot ship.

A tug was sent for in an attempt to free the ship.

Officials said they did not know how the mishap occurred, adding that the weather was clear at the time the ship ran aground.

Biafrans Face Moral Dilemma

LIBREVILLE, Gabon (AP) — When thousands of Biafran children are starving and you cannot save all of them, how do you choose who should live and who should die?

That is a moral dilemma for the Biafran government and the Red Cross, which has flown hundreds of children to relief centers here.

"The Biafrans want us to take the better-off children to preserve the race," said one Red Cross nurse. "They say the really helpless children have already suffered permanent brain damage from malnutrition and therefore are lost causes."

While the question goes unanswered some 1,500 children have been evacuated to this control African capital and are being cared for.

Libreville, normally an easy-going port city of rolling hills and swaying palm trees, has turned into a bustling center for dozens of relief workers, emergency Red Cross stations and a base for Red Cross mercy flights to the Ibo heartland in Nigeria.

The French and Gabonese Red Cross, the Rome-based Knights of Malta, Caritas volunteers from Germany, the Swiss Terres des Hommes and the capital's Rotary and Lions clubs have merged their manpower to save lives.

Texas Priests Ask Removal Of Archbishop

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A group of 51 priests has asked for the removal of Archbishop Robert E. Lucey, the spiritual leader of 500,000 Roman Catholics in Texas.

The priests disclosed at a news conference Thursday that their request was sent to Pope Paul VI and other Catholic leaders more than a month ago.

"We are doing it out of love for the church and concern for the people," said the Rev. Louis R. Michalski, 31, spokesman for the group.

No Breakthrough In Paris Talks, Says LBJ

Larger Military: Wallace

By The Associated Press
Republican Richard M. Nixon is confronting Democrats with a "security gap" charge reminiscent of the "missile gap" charges Nixon endured from Democrat John F. Kennedy in 1960.

And this time third-party candidate George C. Wallace is joining in the attacks on the party in power.

Nixon said in Pottsville, Pa., Thursday the United States is on the short end of "a gravely serious security gap."

Nixon said President Dwight D. Eisenhower left office in 1961 with the United States holding a 50 per cent advantage over Russia in land-based missiles but the edge has dwindled under eight years of Democratic administrations.

"The present state of our defenses is too close to the peril point, and our future prospects are in some respects downright alarming," said Nixon.

Beef Up Services

Nixon said the United States must deal with the Soviet Union "not from weakness but with the persuasiveness of respectable and evident power."

Harold J. Vanierberghe, Escanaba councilman, who was mayor of the city when the final decision was made to move forward with construction of the center, will give the dedicatory address.

Present for the ceremony will be Council and Recreation Board members. Besides Mayor Cecil B. Chase and Vanierberghe, who will participate in the program, the Council members are Edward Cox, H. George Nelson and Robert Bink.

The Recreation Board members are Lyle Plowman, chairman, Robert Jensen, David Rivard, Donald Meunier, Rev. Roger Patrow, Jim Zimmerman and John Proke.

The program will include a tribute to the generosity of Mrs. Bonifas by John A. Lemmer, former Escanaba school superintendent, and recognition of the contributions of past and present members of the City Council and the Recreation Board.

Jim Zimmerman, member of the recreation board since 1965, will be the master of ceremonies for the program which will open with a flag ceremony and the pledge of allegiance as planned by the color guard of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2398.

Rev. Arnold Thompson, pastor of St. Thomas Church, will give the invocation which will be followed by a presentation of the building by Norman Arntzen of G. Arntzen and Co., local architectural firm that designed the structure and supervised its construction.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase will accept the building on behalf of the city.

Following presentations of the portrait of Mrs. Bonifas to Mayor Chase, the benediction will be offered by Rev. Brian Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Lutheran Church and past chairman of the recreation board.

A tour of the building will conclude the day's activities in which the public is invited to join.

Dr. Tourney To Speak To Better Hearing Society

Dr. Morse Tourney, chief psychologist at Newberry State Hospital, will be guest speaker for the Better Hearing and Speech Society at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, Oct. 30, at the Chamber of Commerce Building, Escanaba.

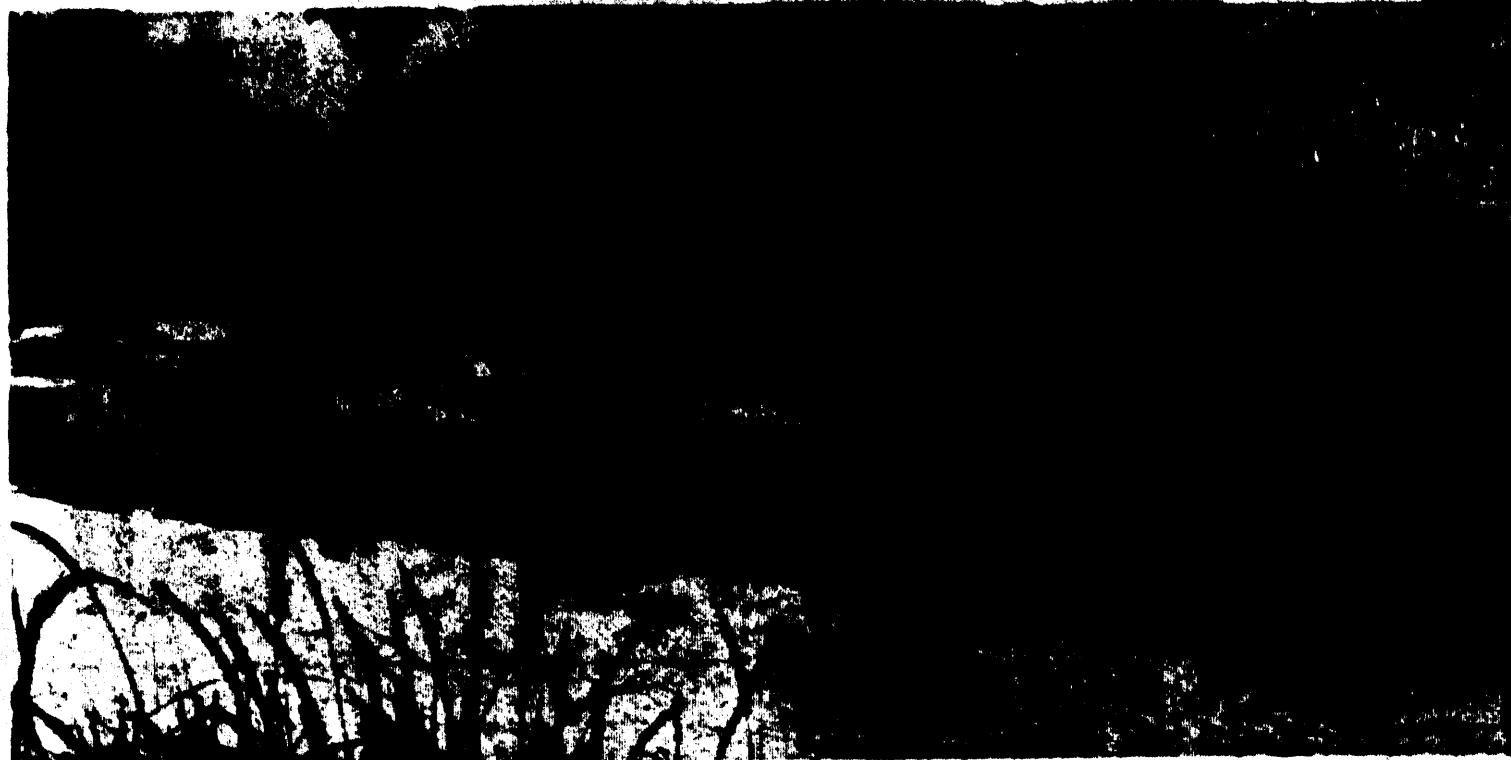

He will talk about speech disorders and other problems of brain damaged and emotionally disturbed children and the importance of complete and accurate diagnosis, and will explain the services available at Newberry State Hospital, the facilities provided for inpatient care and the benefits of outpatient care.

Professional people, parents, and any other interested persons are invited to attend.

ALMOST CAMPED on top of each other, these Michiganians and out-of-state visitors are trying to enjoy a vacation but finding it difficult. State Proposals 3 and 4 on the ballot Nov. 5 would help ease crowded conditions of the state's parks. The proposals, if approved by the voters, will permit the state to issue bonds totaling $435 million to improve recreational facilities and control water pollution. The state's bonds will be matched by Federal and local funds and result in $1.37 billion being spent in Michigan to control water pollution and improve the state's recreational facilities. Ninety per cent of Michigan's billion-dollar tourist industry is based on clean water and parks.

Quasar™ Color TV
is the set with the
"works in a drawer"

The works: 10 tubeless plug-in mini-circuits
for solid-state dependability and fast at-home service. It's so dependable you get a two year guarantee.

Quasar is worth looking into because it's a different kind of Color TV. It's all solid state (except the rectifier and picture tube). That's different. Most of the components (or works) are in a drawer, in the form of 10 plug-in mini-circuits. And that makes Quasar different... because it's a snap to service
in your home.

Quasar provides a difference in dependability, too.
Because the mini-circuits are tubeless, solid-state devices, designed to work for years without burning themselves out. And that is a big difference. Tubes burn out as they work. In time, they just naturally go dead. Not Quasar! No tubes! But if Quasar should ever need service, there's a pleasant difference there, also. A serviceman can replace a mini-circuit in minutes in your home, not the repair shop.

If you've been looking for something different in Color TV... something better, stop and see the 23-
in. picture (measured diagonally: 296 sq. in.) Color
TV. It's worth looking into.

Quasar™ Color TV
is the set with the
"works in a drawer"

The works: 10 tubeless plug-in mini-circuits
for solid-state dependability and fast
at-home service. It's so dependable you get a two year guarantee.

Quasar is worth looking into because it's a different kind of Color TV. It's all solid state (except the rectifier and picture tube). That's different. Most of the components (or works) are in a drawer, in the form of 10 plug-in mini-circuits. And that makes Quasar different... because it's a snap to service
in your home.

Quasar provides a difference in dependability, too.
Because the mini-circuits are tubeless, solid-state
devices, designed to work for years without burning themselves out. And that is a big difference. Tubes burn out as they work. In time, they just naturally go dead. Not Quasar! No tubes! But if Quasar should ever need service, there's a pleasant difference there, also. A serviceman can replace a mini-circuit in minutes in your home, not the repair shop.

If you've been looking for something different in Color TV... something better, stop and see the 23-
in. picture (measured diagonally; 295 sq. in.) Color
TV. It's worth looking into.

Voting On Purity

Proposal No. 3 on the Nov. 5 ballot (the proposal ballot is one of five that Michigan voters will get that day) is for a $335 million state bond issue to raise funds to help build 210 modern sewage plants and improve 126 others, like Escanaba's. The aim is to stop polluting the public waters with sewage discharges.

A companion proposal, No. 4, to be voted separately, would raise $100 million in bonds to acquire lands for outdoor recreation in the state and to build fish hatcheries and other recreational establishments.

These state bonding proposals would require no new taxes. They would be paid off by retaining some expiring state income for other purposes and by the state's normal increase in taxes from growth.

Polls taken downstate indicate that both issues are in trouble and face defeat. It would be a great error for Michigan's voters to reject them.

The recreation bonding is only desirable. It can be accomplished at this time with a minimum amount of spending and create public benefits that will last forever. It deals especially with the state's need to acquire waterfront properties for recreation. They are becoming more and more difficult to obtain and more and more expensive when they are available.

But the pure water bonding proposal is not just desirable it's imperative. Defeat of this issue can only delay the spending not avoid it, because the need for lake and stream pollution control already exists and becomes more urgent.

The pure water bond issue will finance a massive attack upon pollution in Michigan. It will be a financial Magna Carta of pollution control.

Not only will Michigan's spending on water purity date from Nov. 5, but so will a new public attitude of intolerance about pollution of the public waters.

We have never in Michigan had an issue of this magnitude concerning a natural resource. The bonding is much more a thing of attitude than a financial deal. The money will simply have to be forthcoming from some source eventually to cope with the spoilation of our public waters, so it becomes a matter of when we will become enlightened enough to say "Now."

Both the pure water and recreation bond issues are state shares in federal programs. They will provide matching funds for projects to be financed in some cases on a local-state-federal basis and more commonly on a state-federal basis.

To deny our people the blessings of a wholesome natural atmosphere in which to live, and to cut them off from federal aid to help achieve this would be historically hurtful. That's what a "No" vote would do on Nov. 5.

The issue has become snarled up in public debate about its cost. Nothing could be more shortsighted than to look at the cost — which won't create new taxes — without looking at the need and looking at the enormous and enduring benefits to be created. We should regard this as we do illness — which it truly is in a civic way — and say "cure it."

Versatile Transistor

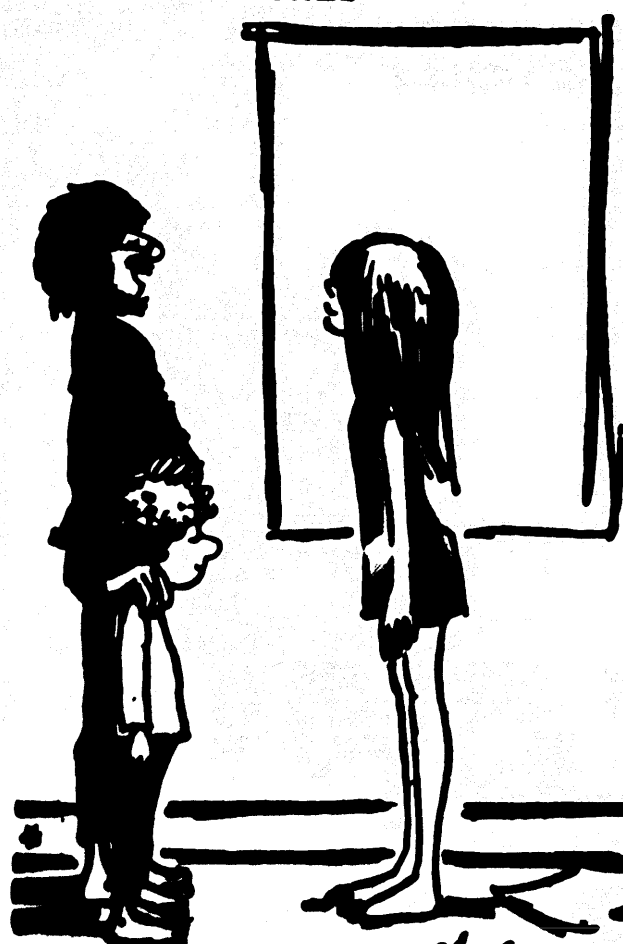

Electronic devices are on the way to joining the list of inexpensive, disposable items.

A new process developed by Westinghouse scientists may someday enable transistors to be "printed" on such common materials as paper, plastic kitchen ware and aluminum foil — to be used and then tossed away, like paper matches.

The new process imprints the transistors—600 at a time—on a one-inch square frame on almost any material, and the product can be wound like a roll of film.

Though still in the developmental stage, a number of uses are already foreseen for flexible transistors, including: Circuits on data cards, documents and credit cards to facilitate electronic processing; teaching manuals with working circuits printed right in the book; pads of tear-off circuits for laboratory or home workshop experiments; electronic implants and sensors for medical use; and in toys, hobby kits and novelties.

 U.P. Forest Service

Americans use more water daily than there is available; one trillion gallons more. It is, of course, only possible because water can be reused from headwater to river delta, as it passes through innumerable hydroelectric plants, industrial facilities or its quality is improved for domestic use. This is illustrated by the Mahoning River in Ohio, where the daily withdrawals of 18 industries and one city total twice the average flow of the river.

Even if, after being used, high quality water is returned to streams and lakes and is acceptable for other uses, additional amounts of water will be needed by the nation. So the quality, as well as the quantity of water, needs public consideration.

Maintaining the quality of our environment is an increasing problem. In the Lake States, and more specifically the Upper Peninsula, the quality of the water environment is gaining importance. This is emphasized by the proposed state bond issues on Nov. 5, 1968 for clean water and quality recreation.

With increased reuse and a greater demand on the original potential water supply, every effort will be needed to obtain the maximum amount of water from the lakes, streams and groundwater aquifers. The water resources will become more and more concern for the land manager.

The U.S. Forest Service is responsible for the water resource in its land management program on 1.6 million acres of U.P. forest lands. The need to yield high quality and maximum volumes of water from the watershed consistent with the other uses of the forest has been recognized.

Public attitude in the past has been similar to that which early settlers had about timber. There was more than enough and we could never use it all. As history points out, the public gives attention to the areas which require immediate action. These are generally the most obvious and dramatic.

Preventing Deterioration (on pollution, overuse, etc.) the most difficult type of management to establish, seldom receives the public support which it needs. The Forest Service has tried to practice this type

Romney Picks Health Council

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has appointed a 32-member state advisory council on comprehensive health planning, to "help assure the highest level of health attainable for every person in Michigan."

The council—chaired by Dr. Andrew D. Hunt Jr., dean of the Michigan State University college of human medicine—is charged with helping the comprehensive state health planning commission develop state and regional programs.

"The continually increasing costs of health care and the difficulties in making good health equally available to all citizens of Michigan underscore the need for planning," Romney said.

"Federal comprehensive health planning legislation proposes a partnership between public and private agencies and between professions and consumers."

"The council and the commission together will work for the development of comprehensive care services and environmental health programs which will help assure the highest level of health attainable for every person in Michigan," the governor said.

There is an opportunity and a present need to improve watershed management techniques. The Forest Service has recognized this opportunity and feels that its accelerated watershed management program is continually providing many of the answers necessary for good management.

Close to home, the Hiawatha National Forest is responsible for watershed management on its lands. Proper management enables us to increase the quantity of flow, influence the timing of flow, and maintain a high quality of water yield from forest watersheds.

As use of the land increases, whether by campers, hunters or fishermen, as roads are constructed and timber is harvested, more information is needed on the impact these uses have on the water resource. This, combined with other watershed information, is necessary to establish levels of use which will be compatible with other resources.

What Not To Say To Cancer Patient

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I had surgery for a malignant tumor. The surgery was followed by cobalt treatments. My physicians are very optimistic and so am I — until some thoughtless person says something. Please publish these suggestions for family and acquaintances of individuals who have had cancer treatment.

1. If the patient wishes to discuss his illness he will bring up the subject. If nothing is said, keep quiet.

2. Avoid such remarks as,

"You are lucky. A neighbor of mine had exactly what you have and they had to cut out his tongue and vocal cords."

3. Don't tell about Mr. So-

And-So who had suffered with cancer for years but "never lost his sense of humor."

4. Be cheerful. Many people recover from cancer. If you know of someone who did, mention it. Such reports can be very encouraging.

My five younger sisters and brothers have been thrown out of the house in the dead of winter, every holiday ruined, holes hammered into locked bedroom doors, telephones ripped out, furniture and dishes broken, sippers thrown on the floor, bicycles pawned, money stolen, neighbors complaining, police at the door. Talk about hell — we lived it. Yet, I hold no bitterness in my heart. My father hates his drinking more than we do, but he is too weak to conquer it. He is a brilliant man and could have had a wonderful career. Instead he has known nothing but misery and defeat.

This gave Dick a chance to go all-out for his contract and he made the best of the opportunity by running off four diamond tricks in order to get rid of his losing heart.

After that it was a simple matter for Dick to lead dummy's three of trumps and finesse against East's nine with the seven spot. A spade was then led to dummy's queen and the best East could do was to take his ace of spades and give up.

Dick was lucky indeed. He had to get that misplay by East and had to find East with all four trumps and four diamonds but one test of a good player is his ability to take full advantage of things like that.

Romney Picks Health Council

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has appointed a 32-member state advisory council on comprehensive health planning, to "help assure the highest level of health attainable for every person in Michigan."

The council — chaired by Dr. Andrew D. Hunt Jr., dean of the Michigan State University college of human medicine — is charged with helping the comprehensive state health planning commission develop state and regional programs.

"The continually increasing costs of health care and the difficulties in making good health equally available to all citizens of Michigan underscore the need for planning," Romney said.

"Federal comprehensive health planning legislation proposes a partnership between public and private agencies and between professions and consumers."

"The council and the commission together will work for the development of comprehensive care services and environmental health programs which will help assure the highest level of health attainable for every person in Michigan," the governor said.

Lutheran Church Stresses Concern On Social Issues

OMAHA — The fourth convention of the American Lutheran Church adjourned here Oct. 23 after completing action on a crowded agenda ranging from reorganization of internal structure to consideration of a "spiritual ministry for the decade of the '70s."

The convention devoted much time to "issues of social concern" and an evening session to questions of military service and the Vietnam war.

A new vice president for the ALC emerged with the election of the Rev. David Preus, 46, of Minneapolis, pastor of the University Lutheran Church of Hope. He will succeed Dr. William Larsen, executive director for the Board of Theological Education, who had held the post during the past biennium.

By unanimous resolutions and actions racism was condemned as un-Christian, funds were voted to meet inner city crisis conditions, investment policies were revised out of consideration for "disadvantaged segments of society."

The longest and most vigorous deliberations dealt with a proposal asking for approval of "selective conscientious objection" as a principle. Under this resolution, which was referred back for further study, Congress would be asked to provide alternate service for those who object to particular wars as being unjust.

A statement on the Vietnam war expressed "growing anxiety over our country's loss of prestige and moral leadership due to war," and said that "use of military power must be guided by an emphasis on human rights and values."

"The tragic ambiguity of any military action is that it tends to ruin the created order, to subordinate other values of military necessity, and to destroy a nation's population and social order," the statement said. "Christians as well as other citizens must share responsibility for helping to define the objectives of foreign policy and to subject its operation to critical review," it continued.

The convention approved a budget of $23.5 million for carrying on the church's program in 1969.

Lutheran unity was advanced by the convention in the approval of pulpits and altar fellowship resolutions with the Lutheran Church in America, the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod, and the Synod of Evangelical Lutheran Churches.

A statement establishing guidelines for relationships with other Protestant denominations was approved.

The request was made today by Escanaba President Lewis, who said a good supply of tickets are still available at the Eagles Club and should be procured by Saturday. After that tickets will be made available to the general public.

Plans have been completed for the honor banquet program, which begins with a social hour at 6 p. m. Grand Worthy President Ford and his wife, Georgia, will drive here from Hancock after a noon meeting there on Tuesday. They are on an official tour of the Midwest and it is the first time Escanaba Eagles have hosted a national president. Delegations from other Eagles Clubs in the Peninsula have already made reservations.

Ford, who lives in Kingsport, Tenn., is also an active member of the Kiwanis, Elks, Moose, Masons, Scouts, police fraternity and the Presbyterian Church. He will be welcomed here by local members of these organizations.

In addressing the banquet gathering Ford will emphasize his top project, greater pride and participation in home town activities.

Death was necessary after damage in explosion last week in which 11 men were injured while in dry dock at Collingwood, Ont., about 90 miles north of Toronto. Youth, 17, Fined For Killing Doe

A 17-year-old Escanaba youth who was arrested by Conservation officers on a charge of killing a doe deer with a firearm during the closed season pleaded guilty today when arraigned before Municipal Judge James Fitzharris.

Officers said Milo S. Peacock, 212½ N. 11th St., was arrested in Bark River Township. He was ordered to pay a $50 fine, $7.30 court costs and $100 liquidated damages. In addition, his deer hunting privileges for the 1969-70-71 seasons were suspended. Fitzharris suspended payment of $25 of the fine. Also in Municipal Court today, Gordon A. Tesman, 25, of 931 Stephenson Ave., pleaded innocent to a charge of killing migratory waterfowl after the established closing hour. Conservation officers said he was arrested Thursday in Portage Marsh. Hearing was set for Oct. 30.

A juvenile with Tesman was cited into Probate Court, officers reported.

In other conservation cases in the Escanaba District: Dennis M. Johnson, 19, of 301 S. 18th St., paid a $10 fine and $7.30 costs after pleading guilty to a charge of attempting to take migratory waterfowl after the legal shooting hours;

James W. Hampton, 23, Gwinn, paid $10 and $7.30 costs for hunting migratory waterfowl with a shotgun capable of holding more than three shells;

Bernard L. LaPlant, 18, of 1827 9th Ave. N., paid $10 fine and $7.30 costs for hunting waterfowl after the legal closing hour and $5 fine and $7.30 costs for using a shotgun capable of holding more than three shells;

Harold Plouff, 32, Rte. 1, Escanaba, paid $10 fine and $7.30 costs for attempting to take migratory waterfowl after the legal shooting hour, and George B. Coleman, 51, Marquette, paid $20 fine and $10 costs for having a loaded gun in a car.

Johnson, Hampton, LaPlant, Plouff and Coleman all pleaded guilty when arraigned in court.

Most Of Area Will Not Move Clocks Sunday

Business, industry and schools in Delta County today began lining up with the Delta County Board of Supervisors and the City Council of Escanaba in its recommendations that time remain unchanged in the area Sunday.

The nation goes off daylight savings time officially at 2 a. m. Sunday, but the Delta County board and the City Council have urged residents to remain on the present time until after the Nov. 5 time referendum in Michigan.

Federal and state offices, however, will observe the legal Central Standard Time.

Escanaba, Holy Name, Gladstone, Flat Rock, Bark River, Harris, Perkins and Rock schools will remain on the present time, according to Walter J. McClintock, intermediate district superintendent.

A decision for the Rapid River district is expected to be reached later today.

Superintendents of the districts met to discuss the problem in the office of Gladstone Supt. Wallace Cameron.

Bay de Noc Community College also will operate without changing its clocks.

Stores Stay Same

Walter Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce, said that retail stores in Escanaba will continue to open and close according to Central Daylight (Eastern Standard) time.

The Escanaba Paper Co. today posted notice to its employees that the company will continue to operate on the present time until at least after the Nov. 5 election, reported O. C. Christensen, plant manager. The Rust Engineering Co., involved in construction at the paper mill, also informed its employees there will be no change in the time until further notice, said Gary Jones, project manager.

Escanaba Paper Co. has over 600 employees and more than 850 others are involved in the construction project.

Harnischfeger Corp. indicated Thursday that it would abide by the "official" time in the City of Escanaba.

City and County offices will operate on the present time.

Gladstone Split

Gladstone City Manager H. J. Henrikson said today that Gladstone city offices will remain on the same time. Retail establishments in Gladstone will change clocks.

Arthur Dorn, J. C. Panney Co. manager in Gladstone and a member of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce retail committee issued this statement:

"While we don't like the law, we feel it is essential that all stores follow the federal and state law turning back clocks one hour Sunday morning and will remain until such time as the law has been changed. We feel there is no justification for disobedience."

Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas P. Chapek, who conferred by telephone Thursday with James Minor in the Washington, D. C. Office of General Counsel, U. S. Dept. of Transportation, reported that the federal government has adopted a "wait and see" attitude regarding the time problems in the Upper Peninsula.

The U. S. Dept. of Transportation is charged with enforcement of the federal Uniform Time Act.

No Action Planned

The act requires the nation to change clocks from Daylight Savings Time to Standard Time at 2 a. m. Sunday, but Minor reported to Chapek that the Dept. of Transportation does not plan any legal action against areas in the Upper Peninsula in apparent violation of the act during the period from Sunday to the Nov. 5 election.

Michigan voters will decide Nov. 5 the question of whether or not the state shall observe daylight savings time and Chapek contends that the results of the election also will determine the legality of a Michigan law establishing Eastern Standard Time (the same as Central Daylight Time which is the present time) as the legal time for the state.

Board Statement

The Delta County Board of Supervisors issued the following statement late this morning:

"The Dept. of Transportation in Washington which controls the time issue is aware of the Delta County Board action urging citizens to leave their clocks alone until after the outcome of the referendum proposal on time on the Nov. 5 ballot.

"1. If there is a 'No' vote on the referendum, the state law prevails, and will remain on EST as we are now.

"2. If there is a 'Yes' vote on the referendum, the Board urges the people to turn their clocks back to CST on Nov. 10, 1968.

"We are assured by the Transportation Department that this action by the board will not be overturned by their department."

Chamber Lauds Hayes For Civic Aid On Birthday

The resolution states Hayes "was a leader in contributing to the construction of the Project Pride Chamber of Commerce building and has supported the many promotions sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, and built an enviable reputation for the House of Ludington and made its cuisine known far and wide."

Protect Streams Along Gas Line

Field workers of the Conservation Department are co-operating closely to protect Upper Peninsula streams being crossed by a $300 million pipeline construction project to provide a new natural gas link between Emerson, Manitoba, and Sarnia, Ontario.

The 1,000-mile pipeline is scheduled to be in operation soon, routing natural gas under about 80 Upper Peninsula streams which it crossed from the Michigan-Wisconsin state line near Ironwood to the Straits of Mackinac.

During the laying of this line, Department field men have worked painstakingly with construction contractors in five different areas above the Straits to prevent erosion and soil siltation from the stream crossings. They have had much at stake in their consulting work because some of the country's best trout streams are in the Upper Peninsula, and soil siltation in streams can quickly ruin fish spawning beds, feeding grounds and fishing holes in long stretches.

"This job hasn't been an easy one," reports Russell Reckall, the Department's regional engineer for the Upper Peninsula.

Each of the five contractors being inspected by the Department has about $5 million worth of large, heavy-duty equipment operating and some 300 men providing the muscle power on each "spread" or segment of the pipeline. This means that each of them has had 7 different operations going at one time and that has kept Department workers busy being at the right places at the right times, to make sure no possible damage is actually occurring.

The Great Lakes Gas Transmission Line now nearing completion is owned jointly by Trans-Canada and the American Gas Company of Detroit. They contracted William's Brothers Company of Tulsa as consulting engineers to design and supervise construction of the pipeline.

Experts Case Our Top Game Bird

70% Of Grouse See No Gun

MARQUETTE — Grouse hunters are stalking Upper Michigan woods from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie during these balmy Indian summer days, as one of the favorite game seasons nears its peak.

On a recent weekend, their ranks were swelled by another group of gunless "hunters," just as intent on spotting grouse as the army of gun-toting game-getters.

Deep in the heart of grouse country—at Northern Michigan University's Cusino Lake Field Station—many of North America's grouse experts gathered for the Third Grouse Research Seminar, held every two years.

Heading the parley, the first held in the United States, was Dr. Bill Robinson, associate professor of biology at NMU, and an avid grouse researcher for the past five years.

Wide Representation

State and federal game men, foresters and conservationists came from Colorado, Missouri, Alaska, Alberta, Manitoba and most of the upper Great Lakes states. Representatives of universities were on hand from Purdue, Universities of Manitoba, Colorado, Wisconsin, Alberta and Michigan, and McGill University (Toronto), and other schools. They included biologists, zoologists and foresters.

The 48 "grouse" found Northern's field station much to their liking. Located near Melstrand in the northwest tip of Schoolcraft County, the station was built by the CCC in the mid-1930s and acquired by Northern several years ago.

Main object of discussion and study was the spruce grouse, sometime known as the spruce hen or "fool's hen"—because it is extremely tame. Other varieties of what are commonly referred to as partridge—ruffed grouse, sharp-tails and prairie chicken—also came under scrutiny by the group. Men from the mountain states spoke on their studies of the ptarmigan.

"Factors influencing the grouse population were of the greatest interest to us," Robinson said. "We didn't come to any definite conclusions, and a variety of opinions were aired."

Weather Is Influence

Three things are believed to have the greatest influence on the numbers of grouse. The birds tend to limit themselves by breeding behavior, and by eliminating certain numbers. This is sometimes done on the "dancing grounds" where males go through elaborate dances, which drive rival males away into areas where the food is scarce and the cover undesirable.

Adverse weather is thought to keep the population down, when there is excessive rain at brooding time or severe icing storms. Among the predators, goshawk and owls are apparently the greatest threat to grouse; weasel, fox and other animals take their toll. However, Robinson said predators are part of the balance of nature, and the numbers of grouse they kill don't seriously affect the overall population.

As for gun pressure, he pointed out there are indications that 70 per cent of the grouse never see a gun, noting that most of hunting is along roads and trails and many areas are hunted lightly or not at all.

Changing forest cover in Upper Michigan is less favorable for sharp-tails, which like open areas. Young growth coming up after logging operations—such as aspen—provides an excellent habitat for the ruffed grouse and plenty of food, but many of the Peninsula's slash areas are growing up. The spruce grouse, which is found mainly in mixed coniferous and broadleaf forests, near swamps or wet areas, hasn't been affected by changing habitat.

Dancing Grounds

Several interesting field trips were made. One was to a sharp-tail dancing ground or hill near Prairie Creek on M-28 east of Shingleton, one of the few sharp-tail dancing areas in this part of the state.

The group was bused to the Yellow Dog Plains near Big Bay to an area in the Michigan State Forest where NMU biologists have studied the spruce grouse. With the aid of radio telemetry, several grouse were located, studied and banded by Robinson. Several weeks earlier, small transmitters had been implanted on the birds, and with the use of a receiver, Robinson was easily able to find and snare a bird.

Although a grouse's sex is easily determined (males are black and gray and females, brown and gray), its age is difficult to discover. It is believed they can live as long as eight or nine years, and adults banded four years ago are still being seen.

Robinson noted it is illegal to shoot spruce grouse.

If hunters find dead banded grouse, they are asked to turn the bands into the conservation department.

Library Offers Many Books On Nov. 5 Election

With another presidential election on the horizon, Escanaba Public Library offers its readers books to help the voter decide which candidate or candidates to choose. Besides campaign biographies, there are timely books of general political interest. Some are right, some are left, and others in the middle.

Some of the books deal with the police authority and with national poverty questions still unanswered. "The People and the Police" by Algernon D. Black makes clear as Gilbert and Sullivan, "A policeman's lot is not a happy one."

Another book on the same subject is Sidney H. Asch's "Police Authority and the Rights of the Individual." He says, "A generation ago a deftly wielded night stick was a socially approved method of maintaining order. Today 'In a society in which the ethics of the market place are 'Don't get caught!', the policeman, a member of the same society, is as vulnerable as anyone."

"Poverty: Views From the Left" edited by Jeremy Lerner and Irving Howe discusses the War on Poverty, the form it is taking and its failure. The views presented are those of economists and political commentators. These contributors are united in a passionate sense of urgency—that it is a moral scandal that a nation so rich should fall so greatly in such a large area.

Current anti-war protest comes in for its share of discussion. James Finn shares some passionate views on war and non-violence based on conversation with people such as Joan Bees, Julian Bond, Daniel Berrigan, S. J. and many others. His book, "Protest: Pacifism and Politics" is a highly personal report on the protest movement.

A book setting a more general political tone is that of Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City, "Journey Into Politics".

The rise of George Wallace, American Independent Party candidate, is discussed by Rula Ables in "The Disintegration of Our Presidential Election."

Early man believed that if he drew a likeness of game animals he would possess their souls and thus control them.

70% Of Grouse See No Gun

MARQUETTE — Grouse hunters are stalking Upper Michigan woods from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie during these balmy Indian summer days, as one of the favorite game season nears its peak.

On a recent weekend, their ranks were swelled by another group of gunless "hunters," just as intent on spotting grouse as the army of gun-toting game-getters.

Deep in the heart of grouse country—at Northern Michigan University's Cusino Lake Field Station—many of North American's grouse experts gathered for the Third Grouse Research Seminar, held every two years.

Heading the parley, the first held in the United States, was Dr. Bill Robinson, associate professor of biology at NMU, and an avid grouse researcher for the past five years.

Wide Representation

State and federal game men, foresters and conservationists came from Colorado, Missouri, Alaska, Alberta, Manitoba and most of the upper Great Lakes states. Representatives of universities were on hand from Purdue, Universities of Manitoba, Colorado, Wisconsin, Alberta and Michigan, and McGill University (Toronto), and other schools. They included biologists, zoologists and foresters.

The 48 "grousemen" found Northern's field station much to their liking. Located near Melstrand in the northwest tip of Schoolcraft County, the station was built by the CCC in the mid-1930s and acquired by Northern several years ago.

Main object of discussion and study was the spruce grouse, sometime known as the spruce hen or "fool's hen"—because it is extremely tame. Other varieties of what are commonly referred to as partridge—ruffed grouse, sharp-tails and prairie chicken—also came under scrutiny by the group. Men from the mountain states spoke on their studies of the ptarmigan.

"Factors influencing the grouse population were of the greatest interest to us," Robinson said. "We didn't come to any definite conclusions, and a variety of opinions were aired."

Weather Is Influence

Three things are believed to have the greatest influence on the numbers of grouse. The birds tend to limit themselves by breeding behavior, and by eliminating certain numbers. This is sometimes done on the "dancing grounds" where males go through elaborate dances, which drive rival males away into areas where the food is scarce and the cover undesirable.

Adverse weather is thought to keep the population down, when there is excessive rain at brooding time or severe icing storms. Among the predators, goshawk and owls are apparently the greatest threat to grouse; weasel, fox and other animals take their toll. However, Robinson said predators are part of the balance of nature, and the numbers of grouse they kill don't seriously affect the overall population.

As for gun pressure, he pointed out there are indications that 70 per cent of the grouse never see a gun, noting that most of hunting is along roads and trails and many areas are hunted lightly or not at all.

State Doesn't Have Solution For School Financing: Romney

LANSING (AP) — Warning that the state has no "magical solution" to growing school finance problems, Gov. George Romney Thursday urged careful consideration of a proposed 10-mill increase in Detroit school taxes.

"If I lived in Detroit I would vote for it," said Romney, a Bloomfield Hills resident.

Romney cited recent suggestions that the state take responsibility for schools and said:

"Many of these people are speaking of financial responsibility, not of the daily operation of our schools. Others have proposed total state operation of elementary and secondary education."

"And it is tragically apparent that some of these advocates of centralized education believe that such action can be gained only as a result of a crisis such as could result from disapproval of the Detroit millage proposal."

"It is grossly misleading," Romney added, "to suggest to any local taxpayer anywhere in Michigan that some magic solution, some new panacea exists in Lansing."

Local communities must do their part, Romney said, and the state will attempt to do its part.

"But the idea that the state is going to bail out Detroit or any other district isn't realistic," Romney said. "The means of bailing them out aren't there."

The governor said a more than $50 million surplus in the state treasury "isn't even enough to maintain the present level of support for the increase in students next year"—that it would not be enough to help problem districts.

The state has been giving increased support to local schools at "record levels" in recent years, Romney said.

Total state aid to schools has increased almost 100 per cent in the seven-year period beginning in the 1962-63 fiscal year, he said. "In the same period, school enrollments will have increased 18 per cent."

Romney said the state paid 48 per cent of total elementary secondary education costs for 1967-68.

Romney also repeated his opposition to state control of schools.

Financial control, he said, "can only come about through complete state control of schools and that is not a healthy thing. I would rather see the local boards have control."

Small Gains In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market emerged from irregularity and posted a small gain on balance early today. Trading was fairly active.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up more than a point, and gains exceeded losses on the New York Stock Exchange.

Smith, Kline & French became the volume leader when it traded on a block of 100,000 shares, off 1/4 at 50.

Woods Corp. also moved among the leaders as it dropped 1/4 to 50 on a block of 54,000 shares.

Disenchantment over the failure of Vietnam peace moves to achieve any tangible results was cited as the reason for market caution which triggered the Thursday decline.

At the same time, corporate earnings were much better than expected for the third quarter, and there was an underlay of optimism that after a "correction" there could be a new phase of advance.

Joan Crawford Is Daughter's Sub

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Joan Crawford, 60, will substitute for her daughter, Christina, 29, for four programs of the daytime television soap opera, "The Secret Storm."

Christina Crawford, who created the role on the CBS program last April, is recovering from an operation.

Joan Crawford will take over her role starting Friday.

When she offered to assume her daughter's role, Miss Crawford said, CBS told her, "You've got to be kidding. We can't afford you."

"I'll do it for nothing," Miss Crawford said she told them, adding: "but I'm afraid they'll have to give me scale. I'll pay my hairdresser with my scale."

Christina Crawford is the eldest of Miss Crawford's four adopted children.

Time Change Is National Mess

By The Associated Press
Most Americans will be getting an extra hour of sleep this Saturday night as they turn their clocks back 60 minutes for the annual end-of-summer switch from Daylight Saving Time to Standard Time.

The exceptions are those citizens living in states that decided they'd rather fight the Uniform Time Act of 1966 than switch to daylight saving every April.

The time act required that all states — except those that exempted themselves—go on daylight time from 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April to 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October. Congress was trying to clear up some of the confusion surrounding semiannual time changes around the country.

A survey by The Associated Press indicated Friday, however, that as of the end of the first full year of operation, the law hasn't changed much.

It's still a confusing picture. Michigan and South Dakota, for example, exempted themselves from the law. But backers of daylight time circulated petitions demanding a referendum on the issue and kept the exemption from taking effect. The question will be on the ballot in both states Nov. 5.

In South Dakota, retailers campaigning for daylight time have a slogan, "Let's not be out of time with the nation." Opposition is strong, however, in rural areas where farmers complain animals don't get up with the clock.

Parts of Indiana now are in the Central Time Zone, parts in the Eastern Time Zone.

The Department of Transportation, which oversees the time act, has tried to regularize the time zones, but has run into opposition from communities or-lented to one or the other time and unwilling to change. A decision is pending.

Kansas doesn't follow a uniform pattern either. The western third of the state is supposed to be on Mountain Time and has, indeed, been on Mountain Standard Time. Some of the counties don't plan to change. That means they'll be on Central Standard Time after Sunday.

Things have been simpler in most of the other states with problems limited to mothers who complained it was harder to get children to bed with the extra hour of daylight and drive-in movie theater operators who protested they could not start their programs until late.

Soo Pushes For Canadian Action To Rid Pollution

MARQUETTE (AP) — Sault Ste. Marie has challenged the State Water Resources Commission to force the cleanup of industrial pollution on the Canadian side of the St. Marys River.

Municipal officials from Sault Ste. Marie complained Thursday that oil and paper wastes from steel and paper mills on the Ontario side of the St. Marys are to blame for the stream's pollution.

They presented the commission with a series of charts and 11 bottles of murky, grimy water samples which they said demonstrated the sister city of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was responsible rather than the American city.

John E. Vogt, commission chairman, responded that Michigan authorities are "responsible for the water only on our side of the boundary," but added that the commission is pressing the International Joint Commission, which deals with boundary problems, to force a cleanup by offending Ontario industries.

Sault Ste. Marie officials asked for nine months to complete tests to see if improvements requested of their city by the state are necessary.

The commission, in turn, asked the city for a progress report by Dec. 11.

Mayor John O. Harrington said it would be a difficult job to sell his constituents a costly sewage treatment improvement program while their pleasure boats are smeared by wastes dumped by Canadian plants.

Dr. Joseph A. Solomon, Mackinac Island mayor, said residents of that resort island are ready "to take on the responsibility of providing some treatment facility" and promised details for the commission's January meeting.

Solomon expressed hope Mackinac Island would receive financial aid if the state's $335-million bonding proposal passes Nov. 5.

The island now pumps its untreated wastes 1,500 feet into the Straits of Mackinac, where at 35 feet depth currents and wave actions dilute it.

While state health investigators report they can find no traces of the wastes, the commission pointed out a 1965 state law forbids dumping untreated sewage in any Michigan waterway.

Halt Sale Of Attack Spray

DETROIT (AP)—Saying they are illegal weapons, Detroit police today announced a campaign to halt the public sale of spray cans used as a defense against personal attack.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley said possession of one of the sprays is a felony, punishable by up to a $2,500 fine and five years in prison.

Several of the spray cans except a solution of pepper under pressure of freon gas, police said. Inspector George W. Harge, head of the police special services and Liquor License Bureau, said his officers would tour bars and other stores and ask proprietors to stop offering the items for sale.

The firms will be visited again in a week or so to make sure the request has been complied with, he said.

The law forbids the sale, manufacture or possession of devices "capable of ejecting any gas which will either temporarily or permanently disable, incapacitate, injure or harm any person with whom it comes in contact."

Most Americans will be getting an extra hour of sleep this Saturday night as they turn their clocks back 60 minutes for the annual end-of-summer switch from Daylight Saving Time to Standard Time.

The exceptions are those citizens living in states that decided they'd rather fight the Uniform Time Act of 1966 than switch to daylight saving every April.

The time act required that all states — except those that exempted themselves—go on daylight time from 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April to 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October. Congress was trying to clear up some of the confusion surrounding semiannual time changes around the country.

A survey by The Associated Press indicated Friday, however, that as of the end of the first full year of operation, the law hasn't changed much.

It's still a confusing picture. Michigan and South Dakota, for example, exempted themselves from the law. But backers of daylight time circulated petitions demanding a referendum on the issue and kept the exemption from taking effect. The question will be on the ballot in both states Nov. 5.

In South Dakota, retailers campaigning for daylight time have a slogan, "Let's not be out of time with the nation." Opposition is strong, however, in rural areas where farmers complain animals don't get up with the clock.

Things have been simpler in most of the other states with problems limited to mothers who complained it was harder to get children to bed with the extra hour of daylight and drive-in movie theater operators who protested they could not start their programs until late.

Halt Sale Of Attack Spray

DETROIT (AP)—Saying they are illegal weapons, Detroit police today announced a campaign to halt the public sale of spray cans used as a defense against personal attack.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley said possession of one of the sprays is a felony, punishable by up to a $2,500 fine and five years in prison.

Several of the spray cans expel a solution of pepper under pressure of freon gas, police said. Inspector George W. Harge, head of the police special services and Liquor License Bureau, said his officers would tour bars and other stores and ask proprietors to stop offering the items for sale.

The firms will be visited again in a week or so to make sure the request has been complied with, he said.

The law forbids the sale, manufacture or possession of devices "capable of ejecting any gas which will either temporarily or permanently disable, incapacitate, injure or harm any person with whom it comes in contact."

Stork Shower

A pink and blue shower was held in honor of Mrs. Steven Rose at the Cornell Town Hall on Wednesday evening. A large carousal in pink and blue trim adorned the gift table. The group played games and pot luck lunch was served.

Hospital

Mrs. Henry Rose is a medical patient at St. Francis Hospital.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rose of Cornell that their son, Airman Calvin Rose has undergone surgery at a hospital at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. Rose will be confined to the hospital for some time. He recently completed his basic training and was assigned to the Air Force Technical Training Center at Sheppard AFB, Texas for specialized schooling as a medical services specialist.

DOME SKYLIGHT: Set into the flat portion of the roof, dome skylight provides interesting effect while climbing stairway to second floor from the main entrance foyer.

While all the principles of good design are incorporated in this two-story dwelling, some out-of-the-ordinary touches give it a distinctive flavor.

An exterior example of this nature is the roof, a painted metal material with raised seams that cast delicate decorative shadows in a repetitive pattern. The roof overhang, in contrast, casts a bold shadow. The entrance canopy recalls the main roof with the same material and color, with gentle detailing of its own. All outside facades have pleasant proportions, scale and a balanced relation between walls and windows. The narrow cedar siding in its natural color, the white trim and the chocolate brown roof all contribute to a sophisticated but charming exterior. The attached one-story, two-car garage relieves the rigid symmetry and creates more interest.

Going to the inside, the main portion of the house is a perfect square — 32' by 32' — a most economical shape. The simplicity of the exterior is reflected in the interior. The central foyer, from which all rooms emanate, includes a wide stair with a subtle curve at its foot.

The living and dining rooms, on either side of the foyer, feature protruding square bay windows at the ends facing the street. On the long exterior side of the living room are two long, narrow windows reaching almost to the floor.

Architect Samuel Paul has placed the family room toward the rear, accessible from the main foyer and also from the living room by means of folding doors. One wall is adorned with a fireplace which extends across the room. On the rear wall are sliding glass doors which lead to a rear terrace.

A few steps away from the family room is the kitchen, which features a large glass bay window. The space created by it is suitable for a round table for breakfast and informal meals. The kitchen equipment is efficiently arranged on two walls and there is a handy utility closet set in one corner.

The laundry room acts as a service entry to the kitchen, with direct access to the garage. Out of the way of circulation is the space for washer and dryer, plus wall cabinets for soap and miscellany and a closet that can be used for a multitude of purposes. A storage space in one part of the garage, located so it does not interfere with the movement of cars, can also be used as a work area. A lavatory is strategically located at the end of the foyer.

Moving up the stair to the second floor, one gets a dramatic view of a large dome skylight that penetrates the flat portion of the roof and is located in the center of the upstairs foyer. Off the latter are four bedrooms and two baths, with an abundance of closets.

The construction of this two-story house is relatively simple, with two main bearing walls on each side of the foyer. There is a full basement under the basic house, which has 1024 square feet of livability on each floor. In all, this is an innovative, efficient and economical place in which to live, with the main accent on the contemporary but with a taste of the traditional.

Z-64 STATISTICS
Design Z-64 has a living room, dining room, family room and kitchen, with breakfast nook, on the first floor, totaling 1024 square feet in habitable space. A laundry room is off the kitchen and a terrace is at the rear, accessible through sliding glass doors from the family room. The two-car garage contains a large storage area. There are 1024 additional square feet on the second floor, split up into four bedrooms, two baths, a foyer and plenty of closets.

FLOOR PLANS: With dimensions of basic house forming a perfect square, architect has been able to utilize a simple but effective center hall arrangement to provide entry to all rooms. Similar layout is used on second floor.

From chemists' test tubes have come the "miracle fabrics" which provide a large part of our clothing today. And from these test tubes will come new "miracle fabrics" in the future.

Your modern electric clothes dryer will dry these miracle fabrics properly, gently.

A modern electric clothes dryer has the proper temperature, the right drying time for these new materials to help insure that you get the most miracle for your money.

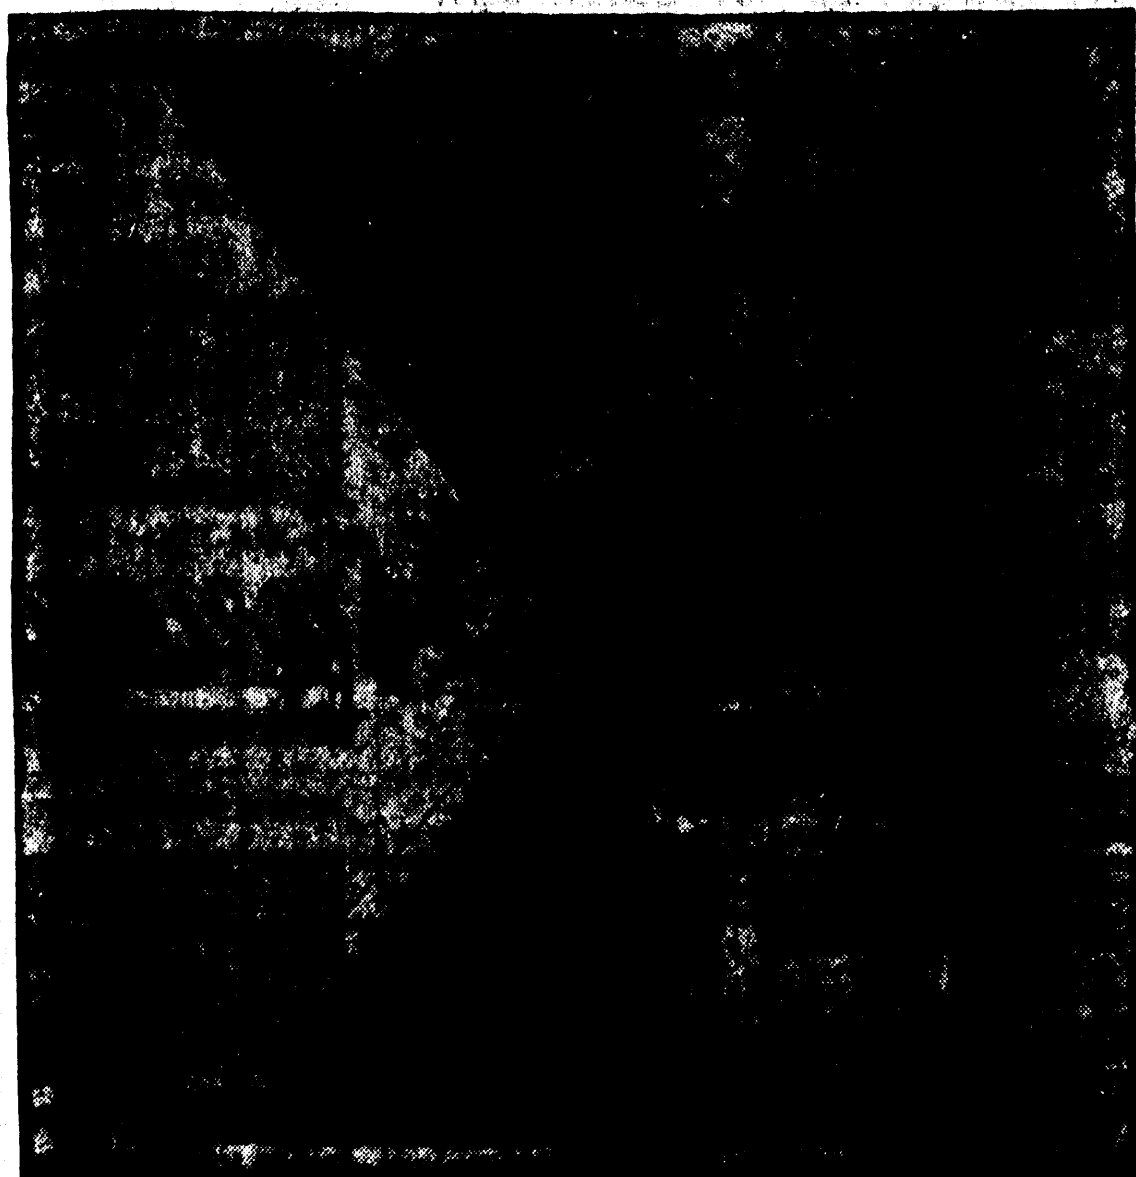

Oh yes. Your modern electric dryer takes extra special care of the plain old-fashioned fabrics, too—dries them the way you want, fluffly, sterilized.

Extend Plane Search In U.P.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A plane with three persons aboard reported missing on a research flight over Lake Superior off Houghton, Mich., was the object of a land and sea search Thursday.

Ninth District U. S. Coast Guard Headquarters here said the twin-engine Beechcraft was last heard from when it reported to the Houghton Flight Service shortly after noon Wednesday.

The plane, operated by the National Center of Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo., was being used in radiation temperature studies conducted by the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Wis.

CLASSIFIED ADS COST LITTLE BUT DO A BIG JOB

Baby Girl Born Today To Lynda Bird Robb

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A squalling, ruddy girl with black hair was born today to Lynda Bird Robb, touching off a round of free cigars handed out by beaming grandfather and father.

The grandfather, President Lyndon B. Johnson, announced the birth himself to newsmen at suburban Bethesda Naval Medical Center.

The father, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, was in his tin-roofed office of the 1st Marine Division's supply section in Vietnam.

Robb's first reaction? "It's a tradition here," he said. "Outstanding is the word we use."

Very Happy
"Very happy" were the words Johnson used to describe the family. The 24-year-old mother "seems to be quite normal and relaxed about it all," he said.

The little girl, who weighed 7 pounds, 8 ounces and measured 20 inches long, wasn't named. Asked what names were under consideration Robb replied, "I'll have to let Lynda answer that one, since she's had custody for the last nine months."

Three Navy doctors and two anesthesiologists attended the birth at 12:03 a.m.

Within a half an hour, Robb had a telephone call from Lt. Gen. Lewis Walt, Marine deputy commandant, informing him of the birth.

Walt volunteered to take Robb the first pictures of the baby when the general goes to Vietnam Saturday, the President said.

The new baby was "healthy and vociferous," the President said. "She seems to know that she is here and has her work cut out for her because she has really expressed herself."

Thursday Evening
Lynda entered the hospital at 8:20 p.m. Thursday night, about two hours after labor started. Her mother and 21-year-old sister, Luci Nugent, went along on the eight-mile drive from the White House.

Lynda spent just 15 minutes in the delivery room.

Her doctor, Navy Capt. Walter M. Lonergan, 46, of Boston, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at the Hospital said it was "a normal birth and an uneventful labor."

Lynda had a regional block anesthetic and was conscious throughout. Luci, who provided the first presidential grandchild, — Patrick Lyndon Nugent — 16 months ago, said her sister "was totally alert the whole time."

Hoped For Girl
As the President and Mrs. Johnson munched some of the celebration candy, they confided they had hoped their second grandchild would be a girl.

Lynda was staying in the hospital's third-floor presidential suite where her father had stayed when he underwent surgery in the fall of 1965 and again in 1966.

While Luci and Mrs. Johnson had sped to the hospital on the rainy night with Lynda, her father stayed at his office until notified that his daughter had gone to the delivery room.

He arrived at the hospital at 12:23 a.m., 20 minutes after the baby was born.

Speaking so softly he could hardly be heard, the President made this announcement: "Mrs. Johnson and I and Lynda and Chuck are very pleased to welcome to our family a baby daughter—arrived in accordance with our hopes."

Extend Plane Search In U.P.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A plane with three persons aboard reported missing on a search flight over Lake Superior off Houghton, Mich., was the object of a land and sea search Thursday.

Ninth District U. S. Coast Guard Headquarters here said the two-engine Beechcraft was last heard from when it reported to the Houghton Flight Service shortly after noon Wednesday.

The plane, operated by the National Center of Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo., was being used in radiation temperature studies conducted by the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Wis.

Two of the plane's occupants were former military pilots, identified by the Coast Guard as Robert C. Carew, of Boulder, an employee of the Atmospheric Research Center and Gordon E. Jones, of Broomfield, Colo., an employee of Combs Aviation at Denver.

The third was a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin from India. The Coast Guard said the university would handle the release of his identity.

The Civil Air Patrol made a land search between Houghton and Madison, Wis., while the Coast Guard combed a 5,000 square-mile area of Lake Superior off Houghton.

The Coast Guard said it had three planes, a buoy tender, a tug and several small boats in the search.

Baby Girl Born Today To Lynda Bird Robb

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A squalling, ruddy girl with black hair was born today to Lynda Bird Robb, touching off a round of free cigars handed out by beaming grandfather and father.

The grandfather, President Lyndon B. Johnson, announced the birth himself to newsmen at suburban Bethesda Naval Medical Center.

The father, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, was in his tin-roofed office of the 1st Marine Division's supply section in Vietnam.

Robb's first reaction? "It's a tradition here," he said. "Outstanding is the word we use."

Very Happy
"Very happy" were the words Johnson used to describe the family. The 24-year-old mother "seems to be quite normal and relaxed about it all," he said.

The little girl, who weighed 7 pounds, 8 ounces and measured 20 inches long, wasn't named. Asked what names were under consideration, Robb replied, "I'll have to let Lynda answer that one, since she's had custody for the last nine months."

Three Navy doctors and two anesthetologists attended the birth at 12:08 a.m.

Within a half an hour, Robb had a telephone call from Lt. Gen. Lewis Wark, Marine deputy commander, informing him of the birth.

Wark volunteered to take Robb the first pictures of the baby when the general goes to Vietnam Saturday, the President said.

The new baby was "healthy and vigorous," the President said. "She seems to know that she is here and has her work cut out for her because she has really expressed herself."

Thursday Evening
Lynda entered the hospital at 8:20 p.m. Thursday night, about two hours after labor started. Her mother and 21-year-old sister, Luci Nugent, went along on the eight-mile drive from the White House.

Lynda spent just 15 minutes in the delivery room.

Her doctor, Navy Capt. Walter M. Lohman, 46, of Boston, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at the hospital said it was "a normal birth and an uneventful labor."

Lynda had a regional block anesthetic and was conscious throughout. Luci, who provided

Strikes-n-Spares

By MIKE UTT

The Tuesday night Classic League at the Bowl-A-Rama has 40 bowlers, 27 of which rolled games over 200, for an average of 182 per bowler per game for all 40 bowlers. Top man for the night was Jack Holmes with a 649 series including a 266 game in which he had straight strikes before missing in the ninth frame.

In addition to Holmes, some of the other big games were a 259 by Ernie Vanlerberghe, a 247 by Bob Corriveau, a 246 by Don Boucher, a 245 by Chuck Crago, a 232 and a 234 by Jack Criel, a 227 by Harold Krusic, a 226 by Jack Beck and a 213 by Ted Makosky.

Miracle Market, one of the teams in the Classic League, had a 1061 game and a 2836 series; Sandberg's had a 2891 series; Skradski's, a 2826 and Clairmont's, a 2817.

Two triplicates were bowled Monday night at the Bowl-A-Rama. Billy Coon had three games of 172 in the City League and Joan Allard rolled 117 three times in the Monday 9 O'clock League.

It seems Red Holmes has found an average he wants to keep in the American League at the Bowl-A-Rama. Holmes shot a 257 game last week and came right back last night to roll another 257.

One night a week doesn't seem to be enough for Jack Holmes, Ernie Vanlerberghe and Harold Krusic as all three bowlers seem to be in a hot streak this past week. Holmes had a 673 series including a 244 game last Thursday night; Vanlerberghe came through with a 237 game in a 645 series in the Friday night Mixed Couples League and Krusic had a 632 series in the Bay de Noc League Tuesday night.

Pat Johnston, subbing for the Bowl-A-Rama team in the Monday 9 O'clock League, bowled a 536 series with games of 191, 169 and 176. On Thursday night she picked up the 5-7 split three times in one match.

Some of the high games turned in this past week were a 259 game at the Holiday Bowl Commercial League by Roland Palzewicz; a 237 game by Doug Siwert who carries a 123 average in the Tuesday Bay de Noc League and George Bougie's 234 in the Wednesday Bowl-A-Rama Major League.

John Gardner had a couple of good nights this past week as he rolled a 689 series including a 278 game in the Black Thursday League at the Continental Lanes and had a 224 game included in a 599 series in the Tigers & Kittens League.

Split Pickers — Ed McCarthy, 6-7-10; Tony Orzel, 6-7-10; Marlis Thone, 2-7-10; Verna Larson, 6-7-10; Irene Milkovich, 2-9-10; Fern Berro, 3-7-10; Bella Owen, 4-5-10; Lorraine Cavill, 6-7-10; Steve Fraddo, 5-7; Fran Goodreau, 5-10; Arlene Jerow, 5-10; Betty Pepin, 5-10; Fran Nelson, 3-7; Ernie Baribeau, 4-10; Kay Auger, 4-7-10; and Aggie Baribeau, 6-7-10.

Ohio State Seeks Revenge Saturday

By The Associated Press
First it was Purdue. Now it's Illinois' turn to tackle Woody Hayes in the college Football Memory Game. And Illinois is expected to miss, just as Purdue did, when the winless Illini face second-ranked Ohio State Saturday.

A 17-13 Illinois victory knocked Ohio State out of a share of the Big Ten title last year and a possible trip to the Rose Bowl. Purdue also dented the Buckeyes to provide State's only other 1967 Big Ten loss, a 41-6 thrashing.

The Buckeyes, reminded by Coach Hayes of last year's debacle, beat then top-ranked Purdue 13-0 two weeks ago. All Illini appears to have going in its favor to combat Hayes' memory is the fact it will be playing before a homecoming crowd.

If State's speed, strength, sturdy defense—and Hayes' memory—prevail, the Buckeyes could move into first place in The Associated Press Poll. No. 1 Southern California is idle this weekend.

But State's snaring of the Big Ten title is another question, and it will be partially answered when 12th-ranked Michigan and Minnesota, the teams tied with State at 2-0 for the conference crown, meet for the Little Brown Jug.

In other Top Ten action, Michigan State faces fifth-ranked Notre Dame; third-ranked Kansas tangles with Iowa State; fourth-ranked Penn State meets Boston College; seventh-ranked Purdue tackles Iowa; eighth-ranked Georgia clashes with Kentucky; ninth-ranked Miami of Florida plays Auburn and 10th-ranked Syracuse takes on 11th-ranked California.

Notre Dame, 4-1, meets Michigan State, 3-2, in a nationally televised game at East Lansing.

In other Saturday games, 13th-ranked Texas, will be at Rice in a night game; 14th-ranked Missouri travels to Kansas State; 15th-ranked Florida, will be at Vanderbilt; 16th-ranked Arkansas will entertain North Texas State in a night game in Little Rock; 17th-ranked Mississippi will play host to Houston in Jackson; 18th-ranked Louisiana State plays at home against Texas Christian at night; 19th-ranked Texas Tech tackles Southern Methodist and 20th-ranked Florida State tangles with South Carolina at night.

Braves Close Grid Season

GLADSTONE — Eighteen seniors on the Gladstone Braves varsity football roster will be making their final appearance in a Gladstone High School uniform Saturday afternoon when the Braves close out their 1968 grid season with the Stephenson Eagles at the Marble Athletic Field beginning at 2 p. m.

In eight games this season, the Braves have compiled a 7-1 record, losing only to the undefeated Marquette Redmen in the final minutes, 20-12. Gladstone also finished in second place in the Great Lakes Conference, with a 6-1 mark, behind the Redmen.

The Braves have run up a total of 189 points against their eight opponents and have only allowed 47 points to be scored against them. Much of their success is due to the strong running of Carlson and Lorenson and the passing of Treichel to Nelson and Treichel.

The defense has been led all season by such stalwarts as Johnson, Hart, Legina and Mike Quinn, to name a few.

Stephenson will be out to win their second game of the year against the Braves. The Eagles have compiled a 1-6 record in their seven games this season under new coach Clark Suchovsky.

Notre Dame, 4-1, meets Michigan State, 3-2, in a nationally televised game at East Lansing.

In other Saturday games, 13th-ranked Texas, will be at Rice in a night game; 14th-ranked Missouri travels to Kansas State; 15th-ranked Florida, will be at Vanderbilt; 16th-ranked Arkansas will entertain North Texas State in a night game in Little Rock; 17th-ranked Mississippi will play host to Houston in Jackson; 18th-ranked Louisiana State plays at home against Texas Christian at night; 19th-ranked Texas Tech tackles Southern Methodist and 20th-ranked Florida State tangles with South Carolina at night.

Eskymos, Crusaders Clash In City Rivalry Saturday

Sports fans in the Escanaba area will have all eyes on the gridiron of the Holy Name Athletic Field Saturday, as this will be the scene of action of the big intercity rivalry clash between the Escanaba Eskymos and the Holy Name Crusaders beginning with the kickoff slated at 2 p. m.

Escanaba, sporting a 7-0-1 record, to keep their unbeaten string alive and to capture first place in the Great Northern Conference race. The Eskymos currently lead the standings, with a 3-0-1 mark, over second place Menominee, which has already completed its conference slate and has a 4-1 record.

Holy Name will go into the game with a 2-6 record for the 1968 season and 0-4 in conference play. The Crusaders will be out to make their season a success by defeating the undefeated Eskymos, but Escanaba has got to be rated a definite favorite in the contest.

The game will mark the end of three years as varsity regulars for seniors Kent Anderson, John Mileski, John Moberg, Dan Mylander and Jim Olsen.

Playing their final game in a Holy Name Crusader uniform will be John Dailey, Pete Quinn, Dick Rusch, Pete Ross, Jerry Koch, Joe Gasperich, Tom Creten and Steve Sullivan.

The 1968 season hasn't been a good one for the Crusaders as they have only won two of their eight games thus far. The Holy Name victories have been recorded over Stephenson and Munising while they have dropped decisions to Iron Mountain, Manitowoc Roncalli, Menominee, Kingsford, Manistique and West Iron County.

Escanaba has scored victories over Marinette Catholic Central, Menominee, Canadian Soo, Kingsford, Alpena, Marinette and Iron Mountain and tied West Iron County.

Another interesting sideline of the clash Saturday is the Daily Press Trophy awarded to the winner. Escanaba has won all three games to date and have the traveling trophy in their possession at this time. The trophy was originated in 1966, but the awarding carries back to the initial contest between the two schools in 1965, which Escanaba won 26-0.

Eskymo Offense
Offensively this season, the Eskymos came by land, picking up 1763 yards rushing, with the starting backfield accounting for 1425 yards. Robitaille was the workhorse of the Eskymo backfield, picking up 523 yards in 99 carries. Mylander accounted for 360 yards, Olsen for 321 and Johnson ran for 221.

Passing only to keep the defense honest, Johnson racked up 530 yards, completing 20 of 55 attempts. Only two passes were intercepted and six went for touchdowns. As a team the Eskymos got 628 yards through the air, hitting on 25 of 67 passing attempts. Mylander led the receivers with 322 yards on eight receptions and three touchdowns.

The Eskymo defense, led by Mileski and Stropich, has held enemy backs to less than 60 yards per game, the highlight being the Kingsford game where the Flivvers were held to a 46 yards rushing. The next best effort was holding Canadian Soo to only three yards on the ground.

The Crusader offense is sparked by fullback Dan Young and sophomore halfback Tom Ness. Young rushed for 312 yards in 81 carries this season and Ness chipped in with 258. The third running back, Joe Sinclair, ran for 173 yards in 23 attempts.

Passing Game
Holy Name relies on its passing game as evidenced by the 137 passing attempts by Crusader quarterbacks. Bob McGinn, out with an injury, and substitute Don Cousineau have completed 55 aeriels for 530 yards, the biggest effort coming last week against Munising when Cousineau hit on 11 of 28 attempts for 154 yards.

Defensively the Crusaders looked the strongest. The scores of their games does not clarify this statement, but the defense was left in some bad predicaments due to fumbles or pass interceptions by the offense.

The Crusaders held Stephenson to 24 yards on the ground in the second half in one of the games which they won and held Munising to 65 yards rushing in the entire game in the other. Powerful West Iron County was held to 36 yards in the second half and only 95 yards in the entire game which Holy Name lost.

No matter what the outcome of the game is tomorrow, it promises to be an exciting, hard fought contest. Fans going to the game are reminded that only Great Northern Conference passes will be honored at the gate.

Escanaba Team Wins Dual Meet

MARINETTE — Cross country runners from Escanaba High School won a dual meet with the Marinette High School cross country team yesterday afternoon by a score of 20-39.

Chuck Detman of Marinette took individual honors in the meet with an 11:41 clocking over two and two-tenths mile course. The other members of the Marinette team finished in seventh, eighth, eleventh and twelfth place for their 39 points.

Escanaba's points came on second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth place finishes by Steve Gage, Fred Jermu, Bob Stone, Jerry Duchaine and Gary Lacasse respectively. Charles Livermore and Larry Burkhardt, two other Eskymo runners, finished in ninth and tenth place.

VICTORY PRIZE. The Daily Press Trophy will be awarded to the winner of Saturday's game between the Escanaba Eskymos and the Holy Name Crusaders. The trophy was put into circulation two years ago and has been in the Escanaba High School trophy case since that time. (Daily Press Photo)

Eskymos Need Victory To Win Championship

Heading into the final week of the season, the Escanaba Eskymos need a victory Saturday against Holy Name to wrap up first place in the Great Northern Conference. All the other teams in the conference have finished their league games.

The Eskymos sport a 3-0-1 record in league competition and the second place Menominee Maroons are 4-1. If the Eskymos should lose, the Maroons would take over first place and Escanaba would be tied with West Iron County for second place. Holy Name will be a definite underdog going into the game.

West Iron County's Steve Shquist maintained his scoring lead over Menominee's Pat Collins. Shquist finished the season with 66 points in the five conference tilts, while Collins scored 54 points in the Maroons' five contests. Dewey Bellisle moved up to the number three position with a record tying 24-point performance against Kingsford last week. The Maroon tailback has 36 points in conference play.

Collins upped his rushing yardage to 696 yards in 116 carries for an average of six yards a carry. Shquist stayed in second place with 362 yards in 89 attempts. Escanaba's Ken Robitaille is in third place with 269 yards in 99 attempts.

In the passing department, Bob Palomaki of Iron Mountain continues to lead Great Northern passers with 49 completions in 99 attempts for 619 yards and four touchdowns. Larry Rizzardi of West Iron County moved ahead of Escanaba's Greg Johnson with 20 completions in 37 attempts for 271 yards and six touchdowns. Johnson has thrown 30 times

Rag-Tag Olympic Cagers Hope To Extend Record

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States' rag-tag basketball team goes for the gold tonight, while new controversies and charges of fixed wrestling matches arose in these trouble-ridden 19th Olympic Games.

The American gold medal production slowed considerably Thursday—two in swimming—but the margin over Russia increased.

Carl Robie, Drexel Hill, Pa., scored an upset victory in the men's 200-meter butterfly and Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., collected her third gold medal in an Olympic record 9:24.0 in the women's 800-meter freestyle.

That pushed the U.S. collection of golds to 37 and a total of 88. Russia, meanwhile, managed only one gold, giving them 16 for the Games and a total of 53.

The United States will be favored in two of the three swimming finals tonight, but the attention will be riveted on the American basketball team's game with Yugoslavia for the Olympic title.

The game will be telecast live to the United States by ABC-TV.

The team, shunned by such collegiate standouts as Lew Alcindor, Elvin Hayes and Don May, has been forged into a tightly knit, precision crew by Coach Henry Iba.

The United States hasn't lost a game, much less the gold medal, since the sport was introduced into the Olympics in 1936, but Iba's team faces a major challenge in the Yugoslavs, who gained the finals by beating Russia.

Three new controversial issues broke Thursday.

Sweden was stripped of its bronze medal in modern pentathlon.

The Olympic Organizing Committee announced that only six representatives from each country will march in the closing ceremonies, a break in tradition.

In all recent Olympics, the entire contingents from all competing countries have marched in the colorful ceremony.

American freestyle wrestling Coach Tom Evans, leveled charges that some matches were thrown.

The U.S. Olympic Committee continues to investigate rumors of under the counter payoffs by manufacturers to athletes to use and display the manufacturers' products.

The Organizing Committee gave no reason for its action in curtailing the number of athletes to march in the closing ceremonies, but it appeared the group wanted to avoid any disorders at the breakup of the ceremonies.

Many athletes objected vehemently.

Jesse Owens, who won four gold medals in the 1936 Games and here as a special member of the U.S. Olympic Committee was equally dismayed.

"I haven't heard the reasons they made this decision," Owens said, "but I'm sure they must be good ones. Yet, I can't help thinking something important is being lost."

"I've seen every Olympic Game since I participated and have always considered the closing ceremonies, from the human standpoint, the real highlight."

Evans said his charge of thrown wrestling matches "is not sour grapes, because freestyle wrestling is wrapped up. But things were done which never should have been done and something should be said about it."

"I don't mind bad decisions or inferior refereeing jobs, but throwing matches is too much."

Scoring in freestyle wrestling is built on a bad point system. A wrestler is awarded four bad points if he loses by a pin, three for a loss by a decision, two for a draw, one for winning by decision and none for a pin. Six bad points and he's out.

"Countries—but I won't name them—threw matches to each other. Coaches were making deals in the third round to take care of each other in different weight classes," Evans said.

"Deals are made before the matches. In order to keep certain wrestlers alive and in competition, one would quit to the other so he wouldn't pick up his sixth bad point."

The United States picked up all its medals in the four swimming events, while Russia suffered a couple of disappointments. Their only gold came in women's team foil, and they were edged out of two others, by Japan in men's gymnastics and by West Germany in equestrian team dressage.

The United States also put three boxers in Saturday's finals. They are heavyweight George Foreman, Pleasanton, Calif., who will fight Russia's Ioanias Cepulis, lightweight Ron Harris, Canton, Ohio, and featherweight Alberto Robinson, Oakland, Calif.

Middleweight Alfred Jones, Detroit, lost a widely booed semifinal decision to Christopher Finnigan, Great Britain, even though he knocked Finnigan down once and battered him constantly in all three rounds.

The crowd continued to jeer the decision into the next bout.

Eskymo JV's Top Crusaders

The Escanaba Eskymo Jayvee team took the first portion of the mythical city prep championship as they stopped the Holy Name Jayvee squad by a score of 27-0.

A flawless combination of Tom Kangas passing to Steve Rosemurgy accounted for six completions in six attempts for a total of 134 yards and two touchdowns, as the Eskymos scored in every quarter.

The first tally came on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Kangas to Rosemurgy with 4:05 remaining in the quarter. Kangas' kick for the PAT was good.

A pass interception stopped a Holy Name drive with the Eskymos taking over on the Holy Name 33. Kangas passed to Rosemurgy for a first down on the 16, then found his end on fourth down for the final 8 yards and the second score. Dave Maskart blocked Kangas' try for the point, and the score stood 13-0 with 3:15 to go in the first half.

Esky moved to the 1 foot line on the first series of downs in the second half, but the Crusader line held at this point. Unable to pick up a first down, Holy Name punted to their 40. Two attempts into the line moved the ball to the 35, then Bill Suriano slipped outside end and tallied the Eskymo third score. Kangas kick was good, and the score stood 20-0 with 1:07 remaining in the quarter.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, Kangas again found Rosemurgy for a first down on the Crusader 22, then chucked to Suriano in the end zone from the 20 for the final tally with 10:19 to go in the period. The PAT by Kangas was good, making the score 27-0.

Joe Kroll, Jim Dubord and Bill Skradski were offensive standouts for the Crusaders, while Mike Makosky carried the brunt of the running attack for the Eskymos.

Strikes-n-Spafes

By MIKE UTT

The Tuesday night Classic League at the Bowl-A-Rama has 40 bowlers, 27 of which rolled games over 200, for an average of 182 per bowler per game for all 40 bowlers. Top man for the night was Jack Holmes with a 244 series including a 244 game in which he had straight strikes before missing in the ninth frame.

In addition to Holmes, some of the other big games were a 259 by Ernie Vanlerberghe, a 247 by Bob Cervino, a 246 by Don Beecher, a 245 by Chuck Cragg, a 233 and a 234 by Jack Criel, a 227 by Harold Krumic, a 224 by Jack Beck and a 213 by Ted Makosky.

Miracle Market, one of the teams in the Classic League, had a 1061 game and a 2836 series; Sandberg's had a 2891 series; Skradski's, a 2826 and Clairmont's, a 2817.

Two triplicates were bowled Monday night at the Bowl-A-Rama. Billy Coon had three games of 173 in the City League and Joan Allard rolled 117 three times in the Monday 9 O'clock League.

It seems Red Holmes has found an average he wants to keep in the American League at the Bowl-A-Rama. Holmes shot a 257 game last week and came right back last night to roll another 257.

One night a week doesn't seem to be enough for Jack Holmes, Ernie Vanlerberghe and Harold Krumic as all three bowlers seem to be in a hot streak this past week. Holmes had a 673 series including a 244 game last Thursday night; Vanlerberghe came through with a 237 game in a 645 series in the Friday night Mixed Couples League and Krumic had a 632 series in the Bay de Noc League Tuesday night.

Pat Johnston, subbing for the Bowl-A-Rama team in the Monday 9 O'clock League, bowled a 536 series with games of 191, 169 and 176. On Thursday night she picked up the 5-7 split three times in one match.

Some of the high games turned in this past week were a 259 game at the Holiday Bowl Commercial League by Roland Falsowier; a 237 game by Doug Stewart who carries a 122 average in the Tuesday Bay de Noc League and George Bougie's 234 in the Wednesday Bowl-A-Rama Major League.

John Gardner had a couple of good nights this past week as he rolled a 689 series including a 278 game in the Black Thursday League at the Continental Lanes and had a 234 game included in a 599 series in the Tigers & Kittens League.

Split Pickers — Ed McCarthy, 6-7-9-10; Tony Ornel, 2-9-10; Marlin Thone, 2-7-10; Verna Larson, 6-7-10; Irene Millkovich, 2-9-10; Fern Berro, 3-7-10; Bella Owen, 4-8-10; Lorraine Cavill, 6-7-10; Steve Praddo, 5-7; Fran Goodreau, 5-10; Arlene Jerow, 5-10; Betty Peplin, 5-10; Fran Nelson, 2-7; Ernie Baribeau, 4-10; Kay Auger, 4-7-10; and Argie Baribeau, 6-7-10.

Ohio State Seeks Revenge Saturday

By The Associated Press
First it was Purdue. Now it's Illinois' turn to tackle Woody Hayes in the college football Memory Game. And Illinois is expected to miss, just as Purdue did, when the winless Illinois second-ranked Ohio State Saturday.

A 17-13 Illinois victory knocked Ohio State out of a share of the Big Ten title last year and a possible trip to the Rose Bowl. Purdue also dented the Buckeyes to provide State's only other 1967 Big Ten loss, a 41-6 thrashing.

The Buckeyes, reminded by Coach Hayes of last year's debacle, beat then top-ranked Purdue 13-0 two weeks ago. All Illinois appears to have going in its favor to combat Hayes' memory is the fact it will be playing before a homecoming crowd.

If State's speed, strength, sturdy defense and Hayes' memory prevail, the Buckeyes could move into first place in The Associated Press Poll. No. 1 Southern California is idle this weekend.

But State's snoring of the Big Ten title is another question, and it will be partially answered when 12th-ranked Michigan and Minnesota, the teams tied with State at 2-0 for the conference crown, meet for the Little Brown Jug.

In other Top Ten action, Michigan State faces fifth-ranked Notre Dame; third-ranked Kansas tangles with Iowa State; fourth-ranked Penn State meets Boston College; seventh-ranked Purdue tangles with Kentucky; ninth-ranked Miami of Florida plays Auburn and 10th-ranked Syracuse takes on 11th-ranked California.

Notre Dame, 4-1, meets Michigan State, 2-3, in a nationally televised game at East Lansing.

In other Saturday games, 13th-ranked Texas, will be at Rice in a night game; 14th-ranked Missouri travels to Kansas State; 15th-ranked Florida, will be at Vanderbilt; 16th-ranked Arkansas will entertain North Texas State in a night game in Little Rock; 17th-ranked Mississippi will play host to Houston in Jackson; 18th-ranked Louisiana State plays at home against Texas Christian at night; 19th-ranked Texas Tech tackles Southern Methodist and 20th-ranked Florida State tangles with South Carolina at night.

Braves Close Grid Season

GLADSTONE — Eighteen seniors on the Gladstone Braves varsity football roster will be making their final appearance in a Gladstone High School uniform Saturday afternoon when the Braves close out their 1968 grid season with the Stephenson Eagles at the Marble Athletic Field beginning at 2 p. m.

In eight games this season, the Braves have compiled a 7-1 record, losing only to the undefeated Marquette Redmen in the final minutes, 20-12. Gladstone also finished in second place in the Great Lakes Conference, with a 6-1 mark, behind the Redmen.

The Braves have run up a total of 189 points against their eight opponents and have only allowed 47 points to be scored against them. Much of their success is due to the strong running of Carlson and Lorenson and the passing of Richards to Nelson and Treichel. The defense has been led all season by such stalwarts as Johnson, Hart, Lagina and Mike Quinn, to name a few.

Stephenson will be out to win their second game of the year against the Braves. The Eagles have compiled a 1-6 record in their seven games this season under new coach Clark Suehovsky.

Rag-Tag Olympic Cagers Hope To Extend Record

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States' rag-tag basketball team goes for the gold tonight, while new controversies and charges of fixed wrestling matches arose in these troubled-ridden 19th Olympic Games.

The American gold medal production slowed considerably Thursday—two in swimming—but the margin over Russia increased.

Carl Robie, Drexel Hill, Pa., scored an upset victory in the men's 200-meter butterfly and Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., collected her third gold medal with an Olympic record 9:24.6 in the women's 500-meter freestyle.

That pushed the U.S. collection of golds to 37 and a total of 82. Russia, meanwhile, managed only one gold, giving them 16 for the Games and a total of 28.

The United States will be favored in two of the three swimming finals tonight, but the attention will be riveted on the American basketball team's game with Yugoslavia for the Olympic title.

The game will be telecast live to the United States by ABC-TV. The team, shunned by some collegiate standouts as Low Alcindor, Elvin Hayes and Don May, has been forged into a tightly knit, precision crew by Coach Henry Ba.

The United States hasn't lost a game, much less the gold medal, since the sport was introduced into the Olympics in 1936, but Ba's team faces a major challenge in the Yugoslavs, who gained the finals by beating Russia.

Three new controversial issues broke Thursday. Sweden was stripped of its bronze medal in modern pentathlon.

The Olympic Organizing Committee announced that only six representatives from each country will march in the closing ceremonies, a break in tradition.

In all recent Olympics, the entire contingents from all competing countries have marched in the colorful ceremony.

American freestyle wrestling Coach Tom Evans, leveled charges that some matches were thrown.

The U.S. Olympic Committee continues to investigate rumors of under the counter payoffs by manufacturers to athletes to use and display the manufacturers' products.

The Organizing Committee gave no reason for its action in curtailing the number of athletes to march in the closing ceremonies, but it appeared the group wanted to avoid any disorders at the breakup of the ceremonies.

Many athletes objected vehemently.

Jesse Owens, who won four gold medals in the 1936 Games and here as a special member of the U.S. Olympic Committee was equally dismayed.

"I haven't heard the reasons they made this decision," Owens said, "but I'm sure it can't be good ones. Yet, I can't help thinking something important is being lost."

"I've seen every Olympic Game since I participated and have always considered the closing ceremonies, from the human standpoint, the real highlight."

Evans said his charge of thrown wrestling matches "is not sour grapes, because freestyle wrestling is wrapped up. But things were done which never should have been done and something should be said about it."

"I don't mind bad decisions or inferior refereeing jobs, but throwing matches is too much."

Scoring in freestyle wrestling is built on a bed point system. A wrestler is awarded four bed points if he loses by a pin, three for a loss by a decision, two for a draw, one for winning by decision and none for a pin. Six bed points and he's out.

"Countries—but I won't name them—throw matches to each other. Coaches were making deals in the third round to take care of each other in different weight classes," Evans said.

"Deals are made before the matches. In order to keep certain wrestlers alive and in competition, one would quit to the other so he wouldn't pick up his sixth bed point."

Daily Press Trophy awarded to the winner. Escanaba has won all three games to date and have the traveling trophy in their possession at this time. The trophy was originated in 1966, but the awarding carries back to the initial contest between the two schools in 1965, which Escanaba won 28-0.

Eskymo Offense
Offensively this season, the Eskymos came by land, picking up 1763 yards rushing, with the starting backfield accounting for 1425 yards. Robitaille was the workhorse of the Eskymo backfield, picking up 523 yards in 99 carries. Mylander accounted for 360 yards, Olson for 321 and Johnson ran for 221.

Passing only to keep the defense honest, Johnson racked up 530 yards, completing 20 of 55 attempts. Only two passes were intercepted and six went for touchdowns. As a team the Eskymos got 628 yards through the air, hitting on 25 of 67 passing attempts. Mylander led the receivers with 322 yards on eight receptions and three touchdowns.

The Eskymo defense, led by Milecki and Stropich, has held enemy backs to less than 60 yards per game, the highlight being the Kingsford game where the Flippers were held to a 46 yards rushing. The next best effort was holding Canadian Soo to only three yards on the ground.

The Crusader offense is spearheaded by fullback Dan Young and sophomore halfback Tom Noss. Young rushed for 312 yards in 81 carries this season and Noss chipped in with 258. The third running back, Joe Sinclair, ran for 173 yards in 23 attempts.

Passing Game
Holy Name relies on its passing game as evidenced by the 137 passing attempts by Crusader quarterbacks. Bob McGinn, out with an injury, and substitute Don Cousineau have completed 85 aeries for 530 yards, the biggest effort coming last week against Munising when Cousineau hit on 11 of 26 attempts for 154 yards.

Defensively the Crusaders looked the strongest. The scores of their games does not clarify this statement, but the defense was left in some bad predicaments due to fumbles or pass interceptions by the offense.

The Crusaders held Stephenson to 24 yards on the ground in the second half in one of the games which they won and held Munising to 65 yards rushing in the entire game in the other. Powerful West Iron County was held to 36 yards in the second half and only 95 yards in the entire game which Holy Name lost.

No matter what the outcome of the game is tomorrow, it promises to be an exciting, hard fought contest. Fans going to the game are reminded that only Great Northern Conference games will be honored at the gate.

Escanaba Team Wins Dual Meet

MARINETTE — Cross country runners from Escanaba High School won a dual meet with the Marinette High School cross country team yesterday afternoon by a score of 20-39.

Chuck Detman of Marinette took individual honors in the meet with an 11:41 clocking over two and two-tenths mile course. The other members of the Marinette team finished in seventh, eighth, eleventh and twelfth place for their 39 points.

Escanaba's points came on second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth place finishes by Steve Gage, Fred Jurnan, Bob Stone, Jerry Duchaine and Gary LaCase respectively. Charles Livermore and Larry Burkhardt, two other Eskymo runners, finished in ninth and tenth place.

A flawless combination of Tom Kangas passing to Steve Rosemurgy accounted for six completions in six attempts for a total of 134 yards and two touchdowns, as the Eskymos scored in every quarter.

The first tally came on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Kangas to Rosemurgy with 4:05 remaining in the quarter. Kangas' kick for the PAT was good.

A pass interception stopped a Holy Name drive with the Eskymos taking over on the Holy Name 33. Kangas passed to Rosemurgy for a first down on the 16, then found his end on fourth down for the final 8 yards and the second score. Dave Maskart blocked Kangas' try for the point, and the score stood 13-0 with 3:15 to go in the first half.

Esky moved to the 1 foot line on the first series of downs in the second half, but the Crusader line held at this point. Unable to pick up a first down, Holy Name punted to their 40. Two attempts into the line moved the ball to the 35, then Bill Suriano slipped outside end and tallied the Eskymo third score. Kangas kick was good, and the score stood 20-0 with 1:07 remaining in the quarter.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, Kangas again found Rosemurgy for a first down on the Crusader 22, then chucked to Suriano in the end zone from the 30 for the final tally with 10:10 to go in the period. The PAT by Kangas was good, making the score 27-0.

Joe Kroll, Jim Dubord and Bill Skradski were offensive standouts for the Crusaders, while Mike Makosky carried the brunt of the running attack for the Eskymos.

VICTORY PRIZE. The Daily Press Trophy will be awarded to the winner of Saturday's game between the Escanaba Eskymos and the Holy Name Crusaders. The trophy was put into circulation two years ago and has been in the Escanaba High School trophy case since that time. (Daily Press Photo)

Eskymos Need Victory To Win Championship

Heading into the final week of the season, the Escanaba Eskymos need a victory Saturday against Holy Name to wrap up first place in the Great Northern Conference. All the other teams in the conference have finished their league games.

The Eskymos sport a 3-0-1 record in league competition and the second place Menominee Maroons are 4-1. If the Eskymos should lose, the Maroons would take over first place and Escanaba would be tied with West Iron County for second place. Holy Name will be a definite underdog going into the game.

West Iron County's Steve Shouquist maintained his scoring lead over Menominee's Pat Collins. Shouquist finished the season with 66 points in the five conference titles, while Collins scored 54 points in the Maroons' five contests. Dewey Bellale moved up to the number three position with a record tying 24-point performance against Kingsford last week.

The Maroon tailback has 36 points in conference play. Collins topped his rushing yardage to 696 yards in 116 carries for an average of six yards a carry. Shouquist stayed in second place with 362 yards in 89 attempts. Escanaba's Ken Robitaille is in third place with 267 yards in 82 carries.

In the passing department, Bob Palomaki of Iron Mountain continues to lead Great Northern passers with 49 completions in 99 attempts for 619 yards and four touchdowns. Larry Rizzardi of West Iron County moved ahead of Escanaba's Greg Johnson with 20 completions in 57 attempts for 271 yards and six touchdowns. Johnson has thrown 30 times
